TEAM OFF FRIDAY FOR WEST POINT AND N. Y.

Collins and Fancher Contend for Second.

"CORKEY" HAS OLD SPEED

May Still Batting High, May Ba Higher—Prospect of A Strong Aggressive Team.

The following men leave at eight o'clock tomorrow morning with Coach Tamsett to meet the Army nine Friday afternoon and Crescent A. C. on Saturday:

Collins, Moynihan, May, Friday, Galbraith, Sutton, Witner, Miller Fancher, Peaslee, Travis, Goff, Goodman, Cantey, Holeran.

The manager and assistant manager, accompany the team. Embarkation will be made at the Schenectady Railway waiting room at eight o'clock. They will proceed to New York after the West Point game. There they will stay at the Crescent A. C. Country Club at Bay Ridge.

The team has been doing some hard work for the opening game of the season at West Point tomorrow. Several practice games have been played with the second team holding its own. The competition between Collins and Fancher for the place at second base is causing a lot of speculation as to who will start the season with the regulars. Two or three games may be needed definitely to settle the question. Sutton and Peaslee are evenly matched at shortstop, although the former is hitting better at present. Bill May has started the season well and gives every promise of beating his own average of over four hundred for last year. The team as a whole appears to be a stronger offensive force than the '16 nine. The base running is faster and more aggressive, without being reckless.

On the defense the team appears to be a very strong combination. Sutton and Collins form a fast unit around second base and Galbraith is playing first in excellent form. Peaslee and Fancher fit into the infield machine perfectly and are developing good team work. Moynihan at third is as

THE CONDITION OF THE CONCORDIENSIS

(At a special meeting of the student body after chapel this morning a tax of twenty-five cents per capita was levied on the student body by a unanimous vote for the purpose of continuing THE CONCORDIENSIS for two editions a week for the remainder of the college year. The tax will be collected by a committee of nine men three Seniors and two from each of the other classes, to be appointed by Wally Girling, '17, president of the Student Body.)

Last June when the proposal to change THE CONCORDIENSIS from a weekly magazine to a thrice-a-week newspaper was being considered by the Publication Board estimates of the cost of the paper in the proposed new form and of the revenue it would yield were prepared. These estimates were submitted to the Publication Board and a committee was appointed to go into them in detail for the purpose of verification. This committee consisted of Mr. Hartley F. Dewey, Ralph Knight '17 and E. W. Mandeville '17. After investigation and thorough consideration of the proposed change from the financial standpoint they arrived at the following totals:

Estimated cost for 90 issues	$1,312 50
Estimated income from all sources	$1,650 00

It will be seen that this estimate gave a margin of $337.50, which the Publication Board was justified in assuming would be ample to cover any unforeseen deficiency in their figures. But the experiment of making THE CONCORDIENSIS a thrice-a-week newspaper was launched in an inauspicious year. The present shortage of print paper and the consequent increase in its price is common knowledge. The price for paper on which THE CONCORDIENSIS is printed was double the estimated cost. Other items were encountered, of which the necessity had been unforeseen. It was found that the Post Office Department charged one cent a copy for mailing thrice-a-week publications instead of one cent a pound for weekly publications such as the old Concordy. Office equipment, of which the old Concordy had not boasted, had to be provided. This entailed an expense of $75.00. To give the new paper prestige the first issues were made big ones. As a result of these circumstances the actual cost of the paper was much greater than the estimated cost as the following figures show:

Actual cost of publication, including printing only	$2,057 14
Actual income	$1,986 42

It will be seen that although the actual income exceeded the estimated income by $336.42, the ACTUAL COST TO DATE EXCEEDED THE ESTIMATED COST TO THE END OF THE YEAR BY $744.64. To continue publishing THE CONCORDIENSIS until the end of the year for three issues a week would entail a deficit of $340.00. In the face of this situation the Publication Board at its meeting on Monday, April 16, voted to suspend publication for the remainder of the college year, with this issue. THIS DOES NOT MEAN THAT THE CONCORDIENSIS WILL NOT BE CONTINUED NEXT FALL ON THE THREE ISSUES A WEEK BASIS.

It was with the greatest reluctance that the Publication Board took this action. Yet there seemed to be no other alternative to meeting the deficit.

It will cost $209.20 to publish THE CONCORDIENSIS twice a week from now until commencement. A deficit of $100.00 will be incurred whether the paper is continued or not; hence LITTLE MORE THAN $100.00 IS NEEDED TO CONTINUE THE CONCORDIENSIS TWICE A WEEK FOR THE REMAINDER OF THIS COLLEGE YEAR WITH NO LARGER A DEFICIT THAN WILL BE INCURRED IF PUBLICATION STOPS WITH THIS NUMBER. A refund to advertisers which would be required by the omission of one issue a week would be offset by new advertising which the management believes it can secure.

If such a plan is adopted THE CONCORDIENSIS will hereafter appear Mondays and Fridays.

THE CRISIS OF THE CONCORDIENSIS

On the first page we print a simple and succinct statement from the Publication Board showing the present financial insolvency of this paper and the causes which have produced it. No one is at fault because this condition has come about. The cost estimates on which the advertising and subscription rates were based provided against every contingency which could be foreseen by those who prepared them. They could not foresee everything. They did their best and when we reflect that out of a trifling weekly magazine of the proportions of a high school publication has come a thrice-a-week newspaper, printing more news in proportion to total space than any other college newspaper, with an office and equipment and an organized staff conducted in a business like way in every department, we cannot fail to say that the efforts of those who managed and edited THE CONCORDIENSIS in its infancy as a newspaper were fruitful and praiseworthy.

The students feel that THE CONCORDIENSIS in its present form has been a success, if not financially, in every other way. They feel that it has a vital part in the life of the college and that it must not go to the wall even for a few weeks. For THE CONCORDIENSIS to suspend now would be to lose the students' record of the most stirring times in the history of the college, it would cast a reflection on the college and would menace the future prosperity of the paper. When it was heard that suspension was imminent unless money was secured to carry on the paper, the universal opinion was that it would be a shame to suspend. It MUST NOT suspend and it WILL NOT suspend. The student body has too much spirit and pride to allow it to suspend.

And so, although suspension has been voted by the Publication Board, we say, not "Good-bye till next fall," but "Au revoir on Monday!"

KEEP ON THE QUI VIVE!

Revere Day was unobserved here. The war fever has abated, or at least excitement has died away. The novelty of drill has worn away and we have settled down to a military basis as the normal thing.

This is not a war in which we leap with a shout amid the cannon's roar and rifle's crack. We cannot give them ball for ball "from behind each fence and farm yard wall." Preparation must be long, intensive, patient.

The danger is not from the enemy but from the weakness of nature. Without sharp spurs to action we may lag and let things lapse so that when comes the time to act it will find us napping.

The farmers of Salem and Cambridge, Concord and Lexington were awakened from their sleep by Paul Revere's night alarm. They had their muskets handy and they were good shots. Deer and the Redskins had given them practice. We have nothing handy. We are not used to arms. How disastrous it would be if we slumber while we should prepare.

fast as last year and appears to be a bit surer and more steady in his work. Witner as first string catcher is showing up well and this department of the team will be well up with the rest. In the outfield, Captain Friday and Bill May are in mid-season form, while the third position can be easily filled from Travis, Miller or Girling.

The pitchers are in excellent shape and will be in condition to pitch good ball in the early season games. Goff, Goodman and Holleran have been showing up particularly well in the practice games.

TENNIS AND TRACK MEN PRACTICING FOR MEET.

Freshman Class Contributes Good Track Material—Tennis Teams Play Twice Next Week.

The track team has its first meet with R. P. I. in two weeks, and is training hard for the event. The weather has been too cold for the best results, but with the warming up of the last few days work has been started in dead earnest.

The Freshman are showing up in a way that gives every indication of a very strong team. The high jumpers are just getting into shape and are beginning to get some first class results. Dr. Mac expects that practice from this time on will be harder and insists on candidates reporting on time.

The tennis team is having their early season workouts and some good material has reported. It is too early yet to announce who the names of the men who may make the New York trip next week when Trinity and Rutgers will be met. Practice will be held every day.

PRESIDENT RICHMOND CONFERS WITH GEN. WOOD

Sees Head of Eastern Army Dept About Union Military Plans.

On his return trip from Philadelphia, Pa., where he went on Wednesday, Dr. Richmond stopped off at New York today to confer with Major-General Leonard Wood about the matter of furthering military drill and preparedness plans at Union. It is possible that some definite plan will be made, whereby Union men will have full advantage of every opportunity offered by the government along the lines of military training and national defense.

Dr. Richmond has been in correspondence with General Wood for some time past with reference to these matters and at one time expected that General Wood would visit the college. The outbreak of the war of course forestalled that event.

Yesterday Dr. Richmond attended the "Founders' Day" celebration at the Drexel Institute in Philadelphia. He was one of the principal speakers at this celebration and delivered an address entitled "The Spirit of National Unity."

Following the celebration he left for New York City for his appointment with General Wood and he will return to Schenectady tomorrow morning.
