JUNIORS VICTORS IN INTERCLASS SERIES

Defeat Senior Team By Score of 17-10.

SOPHS BEAT FROSH

Freshmen Bewildered by First Successful Rush of Sophs, But Soon Come Back.

The Junior class quintet won the championship of the interclass Basketball League by defeating the Senior representatives yesterday afternoon by a score of 17-10, and has thereby earned the distinction of having the class numerals engraved on the Gustave Fink championship cup. The Sophomore class team also triumphed over the Freshmen by a lead of 22-15, thus tying the classes of '18 and '20 for second place. The present standing of the teams is:

	Won.	Lost
1918	3	3
1919	5	1

The Freshman-Sophomore game occurred first in the sequence of events. The Sophomores started with Weinhold center, and Lyman and Hagar guards. The game was very loose on both sides in the first half. The Sophomores evidently had a horse-shoe somewhere for the ball seemed to go into the basket from any angle. This more or less bewildered the "Frosh" who utterly neglected their aggressive in trying to defend their basket. Weinhold and Hughes popped two field baskets each; "Wild Bill" Dougall made three and Hagar one. Eddy shot two foul points and the first half closed 16-2 in favor of '20.

In the second half both teams tightened up a bit in their playing. Beattie and Lefkowitz were substituted for Weinhold and Lyman, and Scherer for Vaughn. The Frosh started out with a wallon. Rolls and Scherer both scored and Rolls made a third foul point. Meanwhile Lefkowitz made two more field baskets but the Sophomores didn't show the drive which they had in the first half. Notman, Eddy and Beattie each scored before the game closed.

Summary:

PHI BETA KAPPA CONFERS HIGHEST ACADEMIC HONOR ON SIX SENIORS

Five members of the Senior class and one former member have been elected to Phi Beta Kappa: Frederick G. Bascom, Clyde A. Heatly, Mathias P. Poersch, Ignatz R. Stein, John C. Younie, and Edward M. Cameron, who left college after the first semester final examinations.

Election to Phi Beta Kappa is the highest honor that can be attained by a student in the classical department. It is based on scholarship and requires of those who receive it, a high standing in their four years of college work. Of the ten Seniors who are candidates for the degree of A. B. and therefore eligible for Phi Beta Kappa but five were chosen this year.

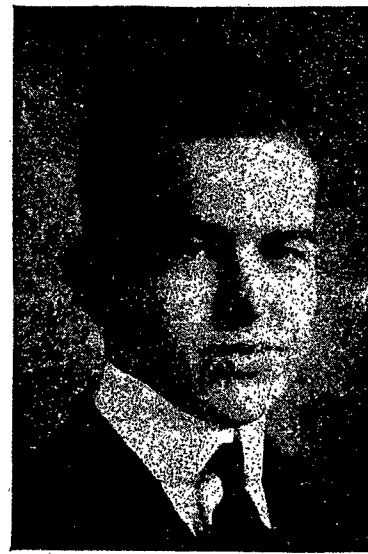

The five initiates have been invited to attend a meeting of the Upper Hudson Association of Phi Beta Kappa to be held in Albany, Saturday, March 16, at eight o'clock in the evening, in the auditorium of the State College for Teachers. At this meeting Albert Bushnell Hart, the well known authority on American history and head of the Department of History at Harvard University, will lecture on "Obstacles to Peace." This lecture is open to the public. Following it a reception for members of Phi Beta Kappa and invited guests will be held in the rotunda of the State College. A business meeting for the election of new officers will follow.

Wednesday evening witnessed the final workout of the season for the 'varsity basketball squad. An hour and a half was spent in making the 'varsity machine run as smoothly as possible.

The first fifteen minutes were spent in a warming-up scrimmage with the scrubs. The regulars had to buckle right down to it, to hold their own. The Junior team of the interclass league was then matched against the 'varsity, and snappy playing followed. Not only did the 1919 men gain advantage from this skirmish by providing them a thorough workout in preparation for the interclass game with the Seniors, but the 'varsity coaches also took the opportunity to work in

The Twins of Learning, Manly Prowess, and the Great Bowl.

It is encouraging to the interests of collegiate athletics and the development of manly prowess, though perhaps ominous for the safety of the nation, to know that our great American twins of learning, which, when war broke out and their formidable athletes departed, cancelled their schedules in the interests of national security, are now contemplating resuming athletics on the pre-war scale, though any "spectacle or display" is to be discouraged. A year ago they announced that their provisions for the defense of the nation would leave them no time nor energy for intercollegiate athletics. The adherents of one of these great universities boasted that it had declared war on Germany some months before the United States; the students of the other conducted themselves as though they alone were the country's first line of defense: The place must be turned into a barracks, everything but the military must be obliterated from the curriculum, or the United States was crushed. After but one year of war, which they have not yet won for us, they have decided to return to the athletic arena. Let men who love their country tremble; lest in doing this they abate those tremendous military preparations, which a year ago were consuming their entire strength.

To the smaller colleges which, in the face of the exactions of their military courses (meagre and insignificant of course in comparison with those of the Great Twins), in the face of reduced registration and impaired finances, in the face of the war, went ahead with their athletic programmes unabridged, it must be an ineffable comfort to have the wisdom of their example acknowledged by the god-heads of collegiate life. When war was declared and the nation sprang to arms the Great Twins sprang too, one of them a little ahead of the nation, according to its own tale. The smaller colleges were not one step behind them. They sent their men into the service, they formed military organizations and introduced military courses. They did not find this prohibited "athletics as usual." They played their games, what though their best athletes had gone and they had little money for coaching. Now come the Great Twins scurrying back to play ball, from the advanced position on the firing line where they had projected themselves in their mind's eye.

They will resume intercollegiate athletics "on a simple and inexpensive scale," without "spectacle or display." Simply, means that the abysmal athletes are in the service. Inexpensively, means that every man on the squad will not have a special coach. No spectacle or a display follows as a natural consequence. It probably means that eager thousands on the day of the Big Game will not be welcomed to the Great Bowl—monument to manly prowess more splendid and magnificent than Olympian Zeus. But the smaller colleges need not be expected to exclude spectators from their games. They play for sportsmanship and not for spectacle.

Glad Tidings for the Foes of Oppression.

Friends of freedom, enlightenment and an untrammelled press will rejoice to learn that our despotic government this morning rescinded an order refusing the use of the mails to our distinguished contemporary which so successfully propagates the advanced ethics of journalism inculcated by the Eatanswill Gazette and the Eatanswill Independent. Fearless exposures of the insidious "Hohenzollern-Hapsburg-Hanson" propaganda for the subversion of our liberties and of the treacherous atrocities of the "Hathaway barn deal" may now continue with unmitigated ferocity, and the heinous assault on popular rights perpetrated by the chief executive of Union College in having his stationery printed in Albany may now continue to be the object of the same withering wrath. The country is safe.

PENALTY FOR ABSENCES MAY BE SUSPENSION

Two members of the Wesleyan R. O. T. C. have been dismissed from the battalion and suspended from college until after the Easter vacation as a punishment for absence from drill. Members of the Union battalion are interested in this bit of news as a possible adumbration of the penalty which may be inflicted here for such offenses, in accordance with the policy of more stringent discipline to be enforced hereafter, as announced in President Richmond's recent address to the battalion.

The Junior-Senior game which told the tale for '19 was considerably closer and harder fought. One field basket apiece was all that could be scored but the 1918 men made two points from the 15 foot line to the opponent's one, and the half closed with the Seniors one point in the lead.

The first few minutes of the second half seemed to foretell victory for '19. The Juniors quickly out-distanced their opponents, Garr, Parker and Gorham scoring a fourteen point lead before the Seniors got going. The three men back for the victorious quintet showed good defensive and the forwards did the rest. Hay and Slade featured for the losers, and by a sudden spurt in the last moments of the game they managed to bring the score to ten.

some of the second-rate players. Joe Brucker's basket-shooting was a treat in itself, and stood out in the practice of the evening. Collins, in his foul-shooting, showed that his poise and aim were as exact as ever.

The game will be refereed by Aspinwall; Hill will umpire.

The Amherst team arrived in Schenectady at five o'clock this afternoon. Tomorrow night they will play the University of Rochester at Rochester.

The team is to leave Schenectady Saturday morning at 7:25 for Middletown. In addition to the regular five, and Coach Yates, Peaslee and Lyman will probably make the trip. After the game with Wesleyan, the team will travel to Springfield and spend the night in that city. They will return on Sunday.

PHI BETA KAPPA ELECTS SIX SENIORS

Officers will be held after the reception. Phi Beta Kappa was the first secret Greek letter society in America and the Union chapter, Alpha of New York, was the first branch to be established in this state. The centennial anniversary of its founding was celebrated at commencement last year. The Union chapter also has the distinction of being more stringent in its requirements for election than other chapters, only students who have studied Greek being admitted.

The German measles germ is at large on the campus and has already affected several students. As a consequence one fraternity house is quarantined and several men in other houses, inspired by a humane reluctance to expose their classmates to the disease, are absenting themselves from classes, and it is said are spending their afternoons and evenings in Schenectady's various houses of entertainment. The report also goes that the faculty, in the interest of health, sanitation and scholarship, are investigating such cases and expect to take action shortly.
