FORCEFUL ADDRESS AT SUNDAY VESPERS

Mr. Colebrook Speaks on "Power of God."

WILLIAMS LEADS HYMNS.

Special Song Service Introduced For First Time by Leaders.

The vesper service at four-thirty yesterday afternoon was one of the best that has been held. Preceding the address there was a short song service led by Williams. Imrie, president of the Y. M. C. A., said a few words about the attendance, expressing the hope that more students would come to the services, and then introduced the speaker of the afternoon, Rev. H. Clark Colebrook of the First Baptist Church of Gloversville. Mr. Colebrook read as the scripture lesson, Rom. XII. A prayer was then offered by Professor Taylor and another hymn sung.

Mr. Colebrook took for his text Romans XIII, first verse, and said in part, "This is a time when people's thoughts are taken up by war conditions. A vast amount of literature, including papers and magazines, have caught the militaristic spirit, but there is one great theme to be dwelt upon,—Is God still on His throne? Though you forget everything else which I may say, remember the words of my text, "For there is no power but of God." If we permit God to use us, our life ceases to be a life of chance.

"There is wonderful power in names. To the Indian, the pagan, and to the Arab when he calls upon Mohammed, names have a powerful influence. Names in our modern business world also carry great weight. What about the name of God?

"Also, what about the real presence of God? Some people say, where is God. I have been in some churches where the temperature was eighty-five degrees and yet I was freezing, simply because the

"TUBBY" AGAIN KICKS TO VICTORY MAKES ONLY SCORE OF EXCITING GAME

Columbia Plays For Touchdown From Easy Kicking Position.

Varsity Sticks to Rushing Game While Opponents Place Much Emphasis on Serial Offensive.

Columbia had some opportunities to score after Rosekrans' goal, but apparently "Opportunity" didn't knock hard enough. Out-running and outrushing the Garnet players on at least two occasions, Columbia backfield men pushed, twisted, and carried the ball to within striking distance of the Union goal—actually to the threshold of it, but without success, for nought came of each attempt. Deficient field generalship was to blame for Columbia's failure.

Since Howard Miller has been lost permanently for the rest of the season, Columbia boosters have looked toward "Buddy" Wilber as the sole possessor of field goal rights, since he is their best bet as a scorer by this method. But "Buddy" was not called upon Saturday, although two opportunities for his ability to be shown presented themselves. Early in the third period a succession of gains by Cochran, wide end-runs around the left side by Henry Munroe, and one forward pass,

ARMENIAN RELIEF DISCUSSED TO-DAY

Committees Named to Make Collections.

NOTES ON MEETING

"Tubby" Rosekrans Given Ovation—"Zip" Zimmer Speaks on One Thing and Another.

Before Student Meeting today Dr. Richmond said a few words concerning the pressing need of Armenia and the appropriateness of relief coming from the colleges and churches. The Terrace Council approves of the plan to send help and appointed a committee to accomplish this.

Rosekrans was greeted by an unusual ovation. He spoke principally of the vast improvement in the Garnet line and also in the backfield. Perhaps our hardest game will be the one this week with N. Y. U. for which the team is going to work consistently.

For the Terrace Council Porter moved that a collection for the relief of Armenia be taken among the Student Body. The motion was carried and the men selected by the Terrace Council to receive contributions were announced.

Dow Roof spoke on behalf of the Terrace Council and said that Gibson Carey had been chosen chairman of the Freshman Peerade Committee and that Jaycox was to be first assistant. The rest of the committee is to be selected by these two and passed on by the Terrace Council. Lester '18 was the man selected for assistant cheer leader. "Dow" continued by saying that the Freshman hats which have been prescribed have not yet arrived, but that as soon as they do they are to be purchased.

"Zip" Zimmer '16, last year's basketball captain and a member of last year's Terrace Council, was in chapel and was called on for a speech. He amused everyone, but at the same time impressed the fact upon us that the young alumni are behind Union in all that she does.

The notices with which the meeting ended were:

Clarence Bull announced that the money promised to the Y. M. C. A. should be paid as soon as possible.

Jaycox Named for Second Committeeman.

NO PLANS AS YET.

Events Will Take Place on Afternoon of Hamilton Game and Will Help Make the Day a Big One.

At the college meeting this noon it was announced that W. Gibson Carey, Jr., '18, had been chosen chairman of the Frosh "Peerade" Committee. Herbert Jaycox who is also a junior was named as the other man on the committee. This peerade is one of the biggest events of the Fall and is held after the last home football game. It is the annual coming out party of the Frosh in which they are gotten up to represent the various people who are now occupying the center of the stage in college and world affairs.

Carey is one of the most popular men on the hill. He is an Associate editor of THE CONCORDIENSIS and is a member of a number of the organizations on the Hill. The older students will recall that he was on the football squad freshman year and that last Spring he made a good attempt, although an unsuccessful one, for the baseball assistant manager-ship. Recently it was announced that he was to be on the Board of the 1918 Garnet. "Gib" is a member of the Alpha Delta Phi fraternity.

Herbert Jaycox, who is chosen as assistant, is a hard and conscientious worker who will make a good helper for the chairman. He is a member of the Musical Clubs, the Radio Club, and of the Phi Gamma Delta fraternity.

This year the peerade is to be on November 18th, the date of the football game with our old rivals from Clinton. Rumors are around already that Hamilton's student body are going to invade Schenectady in larger number and with spirit even better than that which they usually develop. Therefore, 1920's exhibition will have to be on a scale proportional to the fierceness of the game which promises to be one of the best this year.

CONCERNING

FIRST GRADES

Dr. William T. Foster, president of Reed College, has a great deal to say at one time and another about the race for high marks in collegiate studies. He professes to see a fundamental connection between this race and the greater after race, that of the scramble for the almighty dollar. To his way of thinking, the first grade made thermodynamics or history of philosophy will just as sure as tomorrow's sunrise be some day the first grade man in "Who's Who."

With all due respect to Dr. Foster, we cannot for the life of us see the thing from his point of view. One cannot point to the speakers on the Spring Commencement stage and say, "Those were the most successful men in this class. They will continue to be the most successful men when they leave college. And these others who managed to stagger through their four years some way or other will continue to stagger on through life in the same perilous way with the wolf half-way through the door."

If we were Dr. Foster we would not even dare make a generality out of the point taken. We would not dare say that the average honor student in college is the average honor student of the world school.

We do not even believe they are liable to be. To our mind, high marks in college studies haven't anything at all to do with high world marks.

There was a famous example in history to illustrate our point, if we remember right. General Grant and General Lee were the two great military high lights of our Civil War. They loomed head and shoulders above the soldiering profession of the day. Both studied at West Point and, as we recall it, Lee was ranked very high in his class while Grant floundered hopelessly at the bottom of the pile.

No, Dr. Foster's point is not well taken. The successful man in the business world makes his mark because there was some twist or other in his personality that pushed him up. The staff he used to lean upon was cut just the right length to aid him in the climb up the really steep grades. But that doesn't necessarily mean it was the right sort to aid him on the gentler grades he climbed in college.

Why, there are hundreds of illustrations of the point we take. Any one will knock the foundation from Dr. Foster's argument. Take, for instance, the man who has a wide streak of shrewdness in his character. He will be able to go into Wall Street one year and come out the next with a tidy fortune in his pocket.

He used his shrewdness to make money. Would it help him much to find a logarithm or translate a page of Horace?

Iowa State—A new collegiate church is being constructed which will be open to all creeds. The building will cost $70,000.

Columbia—According to the result of a ruling by the Athletic Council all of Columbia's teams will hereafter be wholly undergraduates, as no student holding degrees from other colleges or universities will be eligible to participate in either major or minor sports.

A course of Yiddish has been added to the curriculum to encourage Christians to learn the language in order that they may be able to teach Jewish night classes.

UKELELE PLAYERS TO AID MANDOLIN CLUB.

On account of the ever increasing popularity of the ukelele, and also because of the large number of students who perform on the little Hawaiian instrument, a Union College Ukelele Club is to be formed to play in conjunction with the Mandolin Club.

The first meeting will be held previous to that of the Mandolin Club on Wednesday afternoon, and all men who have ability or ambition to play a ukelele are invited to be present.

PEERADE AFTER NEWS OF VICTORY ARRIVES

When the news of our victory came Saturday night the students turned out with the band and implements of noise to celebrate. Two hundred enthusiastic men walked the streets and impressed upon Schenectadians the fact that the Garnet team had beaten Columbia.

FORCEFUL ADDRESS AT SUNDAY VESPER

people were not mindful of God's presence,—cordiality, and friendship were lacking. This chapel ought to be filled; people ought to be lining the balcony rail; and I believe fully that with a group of consecrated men, this can be accomplished. God will give you means. Pray for it, work for it, and resolve to have his presence here.

"If we would but surrender ourselves we could have power. God would come in, would remove all the petty conditions of our lives, and would give us power to look out over the world and see it in the right proportion. Look into the face of God, receive His power, don't mind what anyone says, and keep in the straight and narrow path which leads from earth to heaven.

"Too many people are not satisfied with their so-called little places in the world, are not willing to follow God's guidance. The world is hungering for real sacrificial transfusion. Put your life blood into his service, God will note it, and will lead you on to victory."

"TUBBY" AGAIN KICKS TO VICTORY

Cochran to Raimondo, brought the ball to Union's 15-yard line and almost in front of the goal posts. But Cochran fumbled the next play and a Union lineman fell upon the ball, putting Columbia on the defensive. Quarterback Raimondo played a good game and was especially helpful to Columbia by his end-runs, but why he called Cochran to take the ball will remain a mystery, for all through Wilber was the man for the occasion, with every prospect that his drop-kicking right foot would serve him in good stead.

After a series of penalties on both sides Columbia had a better chance to score in the last quarter, but still Wilber was not summoned from his berth at right tackle to try for a field goal. Raimondo scooted around the right end bringing the ball to Union's 30-yard line. Cochran made it a first down on the next play, and two plays later the lines again moved toward the Union goal after Raimondo's run of ten yards. Columbia now had the ball on Union's 10-yard line. Columbia made 1 yard but the next two rushes by Rosen and Cochran failed to make any impression on the Union line. And instead of calling for Wilber, Raimondo signalled for a forward pass on the fourth down. Cochran's heave was perfect in distance and direction, but just as Fred Dunn was about to receive, Roof and Witner knocked the ball to the ground over the goal line. Its ownership then became Union's on her 20-yard line, from whence it was easy to punt out of danger.

Union's sole score at the beginning of the game came within the first four minutes of play. Cochran kicked off and the ball was run back almost to the middle of the field. Trick plays, in which Rosekrans, Goff and Roof were the ball carriers, gave a first down to Union on Columbia's 35-yard line. Fifteen yards was Columbia's penalty for holding, but a subsequent penalty for off-side work cost Union 5 yards, bringing the leather to Columbia's 25-yard line. Here was Rosekrans' chance. Going back to the 35-yard line, he poised himself for the effort. His try was successful, for the ball curved squarely between the posts.

Rosekrans very nearly repeated his earlier act in the second period. Union was showing wonderful offensive work, whereas the Columbia defense seemed to be melting away, without an attempt to withstand the onrushes of the Garnet men. Roof intercepted Cochran's forward pass and Witner and Rosekrans made it a first down. Three more rushes, and it was again Union's first down, this time on Columbia's 47-yard line. Two more bangs at the New Yorkers' line, and Union owned the pigskin 36-yards from Columbia's goal. Rosekrans again went back to try for a field goal, and although his direction was none the less perfect than his former attempt, the ball lacked power for the necessary distance, and it struck the ground in front of the posts.

Throughout the game "Hal" Witner did not once resort to an open game of forward passing, whereas Columbia tried eleven times to toss, with only three successes. The Union team had the better of a rushing game during the first two quarters, since it pushed the ball across the 10-yard distances six times by line plunges, to Cochran's three times. In the second half, however, Columbia seemed to strengthen and made five first downs to Union's four. Columbia's penalties totalled 45 yards, and Union's 40 yards, because of misplays.
