GAME A LONG ONE

Goff Pitches and Improves With Time—Lyons of Rutgers a Feature Batsman.

Union opened the home season Saturday by defeating Rutgers 4 to 3 in one of the most exciting ball games ever played on Alexander Field. The contest, which went thirteen innings, was note worthy for the pitching of Goff for Union, and the batting of Collins May and Friday, and of Lyons for the visitors. Both teams fielded well, but Union excelled in this department, going the thirteen innings without an error being scored against them. The game was unusually long in point of time; two hours and fifty minutes were consumed by the thirteen innings.

Rutgers started off in grand style, scoring in the first inning. After fouling the first ball pitched Lyons hit the second for a long drive to right, pulling up at third Lawes was retired at first on a ground ball, hit to Fancher, who tossed him out and held Lyons on the base. Whitehall drove a line to the same spot but Fancher failed to handle it cleanly and Lyons scored while the batter was being eliminated.

Union came back strong in the second half of the inning and scored twice. Collins walked and advanced to second. Fancher lined out to pitcher. Billy May came through in fine shape with a sharp single over second base and both Collins and Moynihan scored. While Travis was being struck out May reached third but was left when Friday failed to connect.

In the first half of the fifth Rutgers earned another run. With two down Lyons appeared in the spotlight, driving a liner into Bill May's territory for two bases. He scored a moment later when Lawes singled to right field.

Twenty Men Try For Officers' Reserve Training Camps, Which Are Postponed.

Six Students Take Up College Garden Plots—Fifteen Apply for G. E. Jobs.

The following open letter to THE CONCORDIENSIS by Dr. Hale corrects a misstatement made in our last issue to the effect that $1,600 raised among Schenectady alumni by Mr. Willis T. Hanson, Jr., made possible the purchase of uniforms for the Union College battalion:

Editor of THE CONCORDIENSIS:

May I correct one or two erroneous impressions which I have seen in different places in print, to the effect that the uniforms for our battalions are being purchased from a fund which Mr. W. T. Hanson, Jr., has raised among the Schenectady alumni? Where there has been so much interest and generosity there will probably be little desire to criticize. But it seems only proper to state that Mr. Hanson's fund was not collected particularly among the alumni but mainly from citizens of Schenectady who were not alumni, but friends of the College who are interested in what we are trying to do. A few of the subscribers were graduates of the College, but the greater number were business men and other citizens of Schenectady who have often supported us in the past. The fund was meant for books, apparatus, etc., needed in our military work, but especially to make as many men as possible to go to the Plattsburg camps as then planned. The expense of the uniforms will be met from a fund of which the nucleus is the $500 which the class of '97 had meant to use for uniforms for themselves, but voted to turn over to us.

Very truly yours,

EDWARD E. HALE.

MAY 14 NEW DATE FOR OPENING CAMPS

In addition to the list published in our last issue the following men have applied for admission to the Officers' Reserve Training Camp at Madison Barracks: Nash '17, Wheeler, '17, Frasier, '18, Zimmer, '16, Towne, '18, W. Dalton '20, Boomhower, '17, and Friday '17.

According to Washington dispatches published yesterday in the New York papers the opening of the camps have been postponed to May 14 because of the great number applications received makes it impossible to select the men to be appointed by May 8, the original date for opening. On that date, it is announced, the list of appointees will be published.

A. E. Hawn '17, and Orra F. Hawn '17, are drilling with Troop First Cavalry of Albany, to which they belong.

Men may still apply for these camps. Those wishing to do so should inquire at the office of the Graduate Council. According to the latest information, those who go to the camps will receive $100 a month in addition to expenses and clothes. All who can qualify for commissions at the end of the training period are to receive them.

FEW PLOTS LEFT FOR TRUCK GARDENERS

Six faculty members and six students have reserved garden plots offered by the faculty for use during the summer. It is expected that fifteen plots will be ploughed. The expense of plowing, harrowing and policing is to be borne in common by the gardeners. Arrangements for policing have not been made as yet. The Schenectady Boy Scouts are to police the city gardens and it is thought that their services may be secured to police the college plots. Each plot is fifty by sixty feet.

BLANKS FOR G. E. JOBS IN COUNCIL OFFICE.

Blanks will be found in the office of the Graduate Council for those men who are going to continue military work during the summer and work at the General Electric plant.

Plans are not yet completed for carrying on the work in military training during the summer and it cannot now be ascertained how much military work will be required of students who avail themselves of the opportunity to get employment at the G. E. works.

The drill under Captain A. M. Jackson will be continued but it is not yet known whether or not instruction in the other courses will be continued during the vacation.

Fifteen men have applied for jobs.

COLLEGE PRESIDENTS TO CONFER ON WAR POLICY

President Richmond will attend a conference of college presidents to be held in Washington the latter part of this week. This meeting is called to consider plans and policies in respect to the military situation.

COSTUMES WONT WIN IN ALUMNI PARADE

Graduate Council Approves Commencement Plans.

45 MEMBERS AT MEETING

Monday a Busy Day at Commencement—New Members-at-Large Are Elected to Council.

Forty-five members were present at the spring meeting of the Graduate Council held last Saturday. This meeting resulted in two amendments to the constitution of the Council, the election of five additional members-at-large, a recommendation to the Board of Trustees regarding a change in the commencement schedule, and the appointment of a committee to consult with the Trustees and General Alumni Association regarding a change in the requirements for voting on alumni trustees and the approval of the plans of the commencement committee.

Another amendment increased the number of members-at-large from fifteen to twenty. The following alumni were elected to make up this number:

G. Herbert Daley, '92, New York City; Henry A. Van Alstyne, '93, New York City; Charles E. Gregory, '94, Mt. Kisco; C. J. Bennett, '01, Hartford, Conn.; A. D. Kline, '08, Schenectady.

A change in the commencement program whereby Alumni Day would fall on Saturday was recommended to the Trustees.

Dancing on Monday of commencement week, from two to six in the central hall of Washburn Hall, now being made over, will be an innovation at this year's commencement. Another change from previous years will be the fact that in awarding the Waldron Cup costuming will be left out of consideration and the cup will be awarded solely for the largest percentage of class members in line in Tuesday's parade. This action was taken because the class of '97 donated the money they had raised for costumes to the college to be used for military training.

Monday afternoon of commencement week will be a crowded one, what with the tea-dancing in Washburn Hall and fraternity houses. Class Day exercises in the Garden, laying the cornerstone of the Butterfield Memorial celebrating the centennial of Phi Beta Kappa, topped off with the Everyman's dinner at the Golf Club at six o'clock and then surmounted by the Alumni Ball in the Gym at nine o'clock.

A DUTY AND AN OPPORTUNITY.

College men have been told that they are of the stuff of which officers are made and that for them to enlist in the line is sheer wastage. What the army wants now is officers. Before two million conscripted men can be trained an army of officers must be raised and trained. It was in view of this fact that the Officers' Reserve Training Camps were established. The college should be the most prolific feeder for these camps.

Less than one twentieth of the student body of Union College has attempted to gain admittance to these camps. There are many times that many men in college who are physically and morally fitted for admittance. Why do they not seek admittance?

Some may think that inasmuch as the number to be admitted is limited it is useless for them to apply. They never can tell till they try and to try costs nothing.

Some may be diffident about presenting themselves as prospective officers. If they are conscripted as privates, that may wish they had had more confidence in their ability six months before.

Some may be deterred by financial reasons. They are assured of the transportation and subsistence and it seems highly probable that they will be compensated. If the proposed rate of pay is adopted, it will be much more than they could earn elsewhere.

Some may fear that they will not be able to return to complete their college course. The period of training is three months. It will be over before college re-opens. True, they agree to accept commissions if one is offered, but one may not be offered. If it is not they can return and will have had the three months training to their credit.

The faculty will excuse them from completing this semester's work, provided their work to date is satisfactory.

Why, then do not more men seek admittance?

FROM A FORMER EDITOR.

Mobile, Ala.
April 20, 1917.

Editor of The Concordiensis,
Schenectady, N. Y.

Dear Sir:

It is with great interest that I note your editorial in last Monday's issue entitled, "Our Last" and it is my desire to express in some way, however small, my praise for the retiring board and the work which they have accomplished.

Never before have I witnessed such a grand advance in any college activity as has been made in your publication under the retiring board. To the two questions which your editorial puts before your readers my answer is very decidedly in the affirmative. The extra work has certainly been worth while because the new Concordy has certainly meant a much better Concordy to everyone. The new Concordy shows teamwork, energy, interest, combined effort and many other things which must go together in order to have success.

Another point which is highly pleasing is the number of 1918 men who have stayed with the publication from their freshman year on. Out of the eight who were elected in the spring of 1915, there are six diligent and faithful ones whose names still appear among the editors. With these men in charge of the Concordy no one need have any fear that the paper will not come up next year to the excellent standard which has been set during the year just past.

With every good wish for the success of the new board.

CAPT. FRIDAY MAN OF THE HOUR SAT.

Union failed to score in her half of the fifth and Rutgers added another unit to their forces in the sixth. With two out Weller doubled to center and scored on B. Durand's single to the same field. After this inning Rutgers could do nothing with Goff and he was never again in danger. His work improved as the game progressed.

Union failed to score in her half count in either the sixth, seventh or eighth. In the ninth, however, fortune smiled. Miller ran for Travis when the latter was safe at first on an error. He stole second and scored when Captain Friday delivered the necessary punch, to wit, a double to right field. Friday was thrown out trying to steal third.

Neither team scored in the tenth, eleventh and twelfth. Only three men faced Goff in Rutgers half and Union's chances were killed by a fast double play on Collins and Moynihan.

Rutgers went out in order in the thirteenth and Union won the game in her half. Fancher was thrown out, and May singled. He went to second on Sutton's single and scored the winning run when Captain Friday again proved the man of the hour with his hard drive to deep right.
