GARNET VACCILLATES

Cann and Bernstein Feature for the Violet, While Capt. Rose-krans Plays Best Game for Union.

New York University defeated the Garnet with apparent ease on Alexander Field Saturday afternoon before an average crowd. The heavy plunging backs of the Violet eleven marched through the Union line or around its ends with apparent ease, while the varsity's offensive was decidedly weak. Cann and Bernstein starred for N. Y. U. Capt. Rosekrans was the bright light of the Union team. About two hundred N. Y. U. rooters backed their team vociferously.

On the first play McKenzie went through Hanley's side of the line for four yards but on the next play Rosekrans broke through the good interference of the Violet and threw Weinheimer for a loss. Bernstein went through the line for five yards and then McKenzie made it first down by pushing through after the center. Cann, the much touted backfield man, now took the ball for his first time and made five yards off tackle. On the next play the New York captain fumbled and the ball was Union's on our fifty yard line. Rosekrans took the pigskin for three yards through the line and a minute later made a twenty yard gain. On the next three plays Roof, Goff and Witner could not make any headway. Therefore, Union tried a forward pass which was not completed. It was New York's ball on their 35 yard line.

On the first play Law Bowman broke through and droepd Bernstein in his tracks but on the next

REGULAR MEETING OF STUDENT BODY

"TUBBY" SPEAKS.

Peaslee Announces That Hard Work for Cross Country Squad Is In Order
This Week.

A regular meeting of the stuminutesThSe bm bm bm mmm H dent body was held this noon.
The minutes of the meeting follows:

Captain Rosekrans reported on Saturdays defeat at the hands of N. Y. U. He stated that the team was not at all discouraged, and that it would go out after the remaining games with new determination. He made a plea for continued support by the student body.

Capt. Peaslee told of the Cross Country race at Colgate Saturday. He said that Stebbins was injured to such an extent that he would be out for the remainder of the season, and urged the candidates to work faithfully in preparation for the run with Williams in Schenectady next Saturday.

Carey, reporting for the "Peerade" Committee announced that Beske, Brockway and Cameron had been chosen to fill out the committee in charge. His motion that a tax of seventy-five cents be levied upon the Freshmen and of twenty-five cents on the other classes was duly seconded and passed by the meeting. He announced a meeting of 1920 for tomorrow noon.

Chapman urged the student body to go to the R. P. I. game en masse and said that lists would be circulated to ascertain the number that would attend.

GRADUATE COUNCIL MET ON SATURDAY

Any Graduate Class Now Admitted to Council.

RICHARDS '88, CHAIRMAN.

Increase in Number of Members-at-Large and in Commencement Tax.

At the meeting of the Graduate Council held Saturday morning from 10 to 12 and Saturday afternoon from 1:15 to 2:45, many new and important suggestions were adopted besides the holding of regular election of officers. The idea of meeting in the morning, lunching together, continuing the meeting after lunch, and then attending an athletic contest, is a new one which worked very successfully last Saturday.

The officers elected were: Frederick B. Richards, '88, chairman; Dr. Alexander Duane, '78, vice-chairman; Charles N. Waldron, '06, secretary, and William G.
Shaible, '86, treasurer. The three members-at-large elected were:
Louis Oppenheim, '75; H. C.
Mandeville, '88; Edward G. Conde, '93. Hugh Williams, '17, was present at the meeting as student representative.

It was decided at the meeting to increase the membership-at-large from fifteen to twenty members, to increase the annual class commencement tax from ten to fifteen dollars and to raise funds to equip the office of the secretary. The constitution was changed somewhat and new taxes were assessed. An important matter which was decided was that of admitting any class to council representation which would vote to bear the burdens of the council and abide by its rules. At present the last thirty-five graduate classes are represented, but this new plan of representation would make it possible for any class, no matter how old, to join. If carried out the membership would at once be increased by eight at least.

REV. MOLDENHOWER VESPER SPEAKER

"Nobility of Christian Tradition," His Subject.

DISCUSSES THE WAR

Says It Fails to Prove Inefficacy of Christianity.

At yesterday's vesper service, the Rev. Mr. Moldenhowe, of the Second Presbyterian Church, of Albany, made the best defense of the Christian religion against its war-time critics that has been heard at Union in many a day.
His subject was "The Nobility of the Christian Tradition," and he handled it in a manner which could not fail to arouse in the minds of his hearers a belief in the efficacy of Christianity which in some has been lagging upon their seeing, in the world war, an apparent failure of civilization.

Mr. Moldenhowe attributed to the tradition founded upon Jesus Christ alone the whole progress of the human race and scoffed at the ultra-modern idea of despising history and breaking with the past. "Every movement that has resulted in the betterment of man has had its root in something which is not new but is a perfectly obvious truth," he said. "These movements have been claimed by their originators to be merely a restatement of what everyone really knew and believed in, only possessing a new and powerful form." This eternal something found in all forward movements of humanity is the Christian tradition, of which Christ Jesus is the foundation.

"Though Christianity is not passing unscathed through the testing fires of the great war it is yet the vital, the all-pervading force in that war. Admitting the worst that can be said about the Christian faith, that it has not as yet succeeding in destroying man's lust for blood, nevertheless so potent is the innate influence of Christian tradition over the minds of those engaged in the conflict that those accused of the worst atrocities have been most anxious either to disprove the charges or to give a very plausible excuse for them."

BLODGETT, '15, SPEAKS.

Raymond S. Blodgett, '15, gave an interesting talk to the chemistry class of Junior Civil Engineers Saturday on "Illuminating Gas." "Blodge" is teaching chemistry at the Caldwell High School in New Jersey. The older men are always glad to see an ex-president

MONDAY, OCTOBER 30, 1916.

Concordy has come out some seventeen or eighteen times now in its new suit. Its friends have said they liked it. Its subscription list, since the days of the new suit, has lengthened pleasingly. Some of the subscribers have made their word good and paid in their money, while others have not. Concordy's business staff would remind the latter that, if they do not fill out their promises and their checks before November fifth, Concordy is liable not to come to them in any suit at all.

IT ISN'T.

For some time we have been of a mind to bring up the subject of athletic training here at Union. We have not chosen this moment to do so on account of any recent incentive being given us. We wish that made clear. And we wish it also made clear that we are not sub-consciously thinking either of individuals or of the squad as a whole, but rather of the entire student body.

It seems to us that the attitude—the college attitude—toward training here isn't at all what it should be. It is altogether too much of an attitude of none-of-my-business. We know that the average student will balk at being told this—will say he always felt that it was some of his business—but we also know that a sober second thought will bring him to see that there is something in what we say.

The training of a football or baseball or track man ought to be a matter of personal responsibility to the college man at large. You have been told this ever since you have been in college. But you don't know it yet.

You don't know it yet. The idea hasn't cut home to you. Some of you have a none-of-my-business feeling that it is so, but it isn't any more of a reality to you than if it didn't exist at all. And therefore it doesn't exist.

To you, no matter who you are, the matter of perfect training ought to be a religion, if we may put it that way. It ought to be as deeply rooted a college custom as we have. You, as an individual, should support it as warmly as you do the singing of the Ode to Union.

When you see a track or football man do anything that is liable to hurt his physical welfare, you should somehow have the feeling that he has done you a wrong. Really, whole-heartedly, feel it, we mean. Feel it so keenly that, whether he be your roommate or a total stranger, you will tell him what you think of him and mince no words in doing it.

And on the other hand, you should honestly feel conscience-stricken if you failed to help the next man to make good in training. If your room-mate were on the squad—and you were on it in spirit—you would no more smoke while he were in the room than you would remain seated during the singing of Alma Mater. And if he were a smoker and was wont to weaken to so much as the smoking of one cigarette a day, you should feel down underneath that you were yellow if you didn't put your shoulder to the wheel and help him push. In this specific case you should help him to see that sudden abstinence from smoking is very hard at first, that it even is liable to make one physically softer, but that after perhaps two weeks, when the nicotine has fully left the system, the good results will come. And you should feel yourself a quitter if you didn't help him over those first two weeks.

We have little faith in the ability of such an organization as a Training Council to bring about this spirit in the college. We don't think there ought to be such an organization. The feeling should be a spontaneous one rising from the individual. It should be a college custom.

But it isn't.

Keep abreast with the times. We are not living in the stage-coach decade, at which time the mentioning of flying machines would have been taken as an idle jest. In the present century you wouldn't think of traveling as one did in by-gone days. Neither would you of having your shoes repaired by the old style hand method way, if you knew the superiority of our up-to-date machine way of repairing.

THE COLGATE MEET

Saturday the Union cross country team finished third in the meet at Colgate in which Colgate, Columbia and Union were represented. We sent our best men, Peaslee, Captain; Hance, Stebbins, Morris, Streeter and Watts, but the first three were in very poor shape. Hance, however, finished in third place.

This Saturday Williams is going to run against the Garnet in Schenectady.

ALPHA DELTS WIN
"ED'S" TENNIS CUP

The inter-fraternity tennis tournament, that was started last fall as a "round-robin" and never finished, has just been run off as an elimination tournament. It was finished on Saturday when the Alpha Delta Phi team, composed of May and Wadsworth, finished their list of victories with one over the Pyramid Club team, May winning from Clapp 6-0, 6-0 and Wadsworth winning from Goodman 6-3, 6-3. The cup, given by "Ed" the barber, was awarded to the Alpha Delts.

effort Weinheimer, the fast half-back, made five yards through the line. New York kicked on their third down and Witner muffed but recovered it, giving us the ball on our own ten yard line. Rosekrans at once punted out of danger and the ball went to Cann whom Rosekrans tackled in midfield. From this point the New Yorkers started down the field and did not stop till they had put the ball back of the Union goal posts. The big factors in this advance were the splendid end running of Weinheimer and a good forward pass to Egan. In this play Roof made a desperate tackle and was forced to leave the game as a result of his injuries. Cann kicked the goal, making it seven to nothing in favor of the Violet.

Cann kicked off to Rosekrans and the Garnet captain ran it back to the forty yard line. In a series of plays by Goff and Witner there were no gains. Tubby was forced to kick again. Cann fumbled the ball but luck was with N. Y. U. and Bernstein recovered it. Weinheimer made five yards through the line and Cann made first down. Then Weinheimer made six yards around Foster's end and Bernstein made it first down, but New York was penalized fifteen yards for holding. Goff intercepted a forward pass, making it Union's ball on the forty yard line. As Tubby could make no gain through the line, he punted on the second down. Foster was down under it like a streak but he did not notice the fair catch signal of McKenzie and hit him. For this Union was penalized fifteen yards. At this place Frankie Moynihan replaced De Laplante. The first quarter closed with an end run of fifteen yards by Weinheimer.

Second Quarter.

The ball was New York's on Union's forty yard line. Bernstein tore off a long end run and was not stopped till he was tackled by Moynihan. McKenzie made first down through the line and then Weinheimer made four more through the line. Here luck again favored New York for Cann fumbled the next play but Brinn recovered and made a good gain. Weinheimer again went through our line but as New York was penalized fifteen yards for holding, the Union goal was out of danger. McDonald spoiled a forward pass and then Hal Witner intercepted one and ran the ball back to midfield. Here the Garnet gave the best exhibition of steady gaining and by the good work of Moynihan and Rosekrans advanced the ball to the New York ten yard line. but here Moynihan fumbled and Union's best chance to score was gone. On the first New York play Cann made fifteen yards around the end and then Weinheimer made twenty more on the same play. The half ended with the ball in Union's hands in the middle of the field.

Third Quarter.

star was suffering from a dislocated shoulder, and Mooney took Brinn's place at center. Weinheimer kicked off to Friday who ran it back to Union's thirty-five yard line before House got him. Rosekrans made ten yards on the first play, but the next three were not successful. Rosekrans kicked and Moynihan was down under it fast and nailed McKenzie as he caught it. Weinheimer made seven yards around end and then Warmen made the longest gain of the game with a thirty-three yard run. Bernstein added eight more and Weinheimer added six to the total, bringing the ball to the Union eight yard line. Here Curtis took Bowmans place. The Union line held like a stone wall for four downs. On the last one, however, the line became too anxious and were penalized for off side. This again made it New York's first down on our two yard line and Bernstein made it a touchdown on the next play. Weinheimer missed the goal.

Weinheimer kicked off to Goff and Homer ran it back. After a few attempts at the line Union kicked. The quarter ended with the ball in New York's hands.

Fourth Quarter.

Warmen made it first down but as the next few plays netted no gain New York kicked to Rosekrans who was downed on Union's thirty yard line. We too could not make any gain and therefore kicked. Foster nailed McKenzie just as he caught the ball. Blanchard took Moynihan's place. The last quarter did not furnish much excitement as the ball was in the middle of the field all of the time and neither goal was threatened. The game ended with the ball in Union's hands just after Travis, who had taken Goff's place, had caught a much fumbled forward pass.
