RUTGERS GOES DOWN TO TUNE OF 7 TO 2

Luck of Union Changes Yesterday Afternoon—Opponents Outplayed Throughout.

Union easily defeated Rutgers by the score of 7 to 2. Union started in punching out the ball in the first inning and the game was never in doubt. Beaver, Wittner and Reynolds' hitting and Holleran's pitching featured for Union.

Union started scoring in the first inning. Reynolds grounded out to Rule. Beaver doubled to right. Hanley out at first, but Beaver took third. Wittner doubled to center, Beaver scoring. Butler repeated and Hal came across. Lewis hit to center but Butler was put out at the plate.

In the fifth Brucker walked. Mal-lery struck out. Holleran was safe on a scratch to second, Brucker taking second. Reynolds singled to right. On a poor throw from the field Brucker scored, Holleran took third and Reynolds second. Beaver singled, Holleran scoring. Reynolds was put out at the plate. Beaver took second.

22 WINS SCRAP

The annual Moving-Up Day scraps were won this morning by class of 1922. These are the first Moving-Up Day scraps that have been held in four years and much interest has been shown for the past week in the outcome.
It was a hard fought contest and the victors deserve all the credit that could be given to them. Very competent leadership was shown on both sides. The Sophomores were lead by T. W. Reynolds, S. L. Brown, M. B. Hulsapple, R. A. Allerton. The Freshmen were headed by E. Erdman and L. Rinaldi.

TERPISCHORE AND HER DEVOTEES HOLD SUCCESSFUL EVENT OF THE SEASON

The Gym was bedecked in festal array—worthy of Nice or New Orleans in the Mardi Gras season. Streamers of Garnet and White adorned the walls, the balcony, and even floated across the Gym above the heads of the dancers. Strings of lights helped make these streamers serve a useful as well as an ornamental purpose. All the fraternities on the Hill had their booths, all of which were beautifully furnished. Palms added to the beauty of the dance hall.

The committee, which consisted of Julian D. Hager, chairman; H. Cowles Wadsworth, William Greeley, Harold J. McGee, Warren I. Titus and J. L. Dawson Speer, ex-officio, is to be congratulated for their most successful running of the affair. They deserve the thanks of the college for affording it a treat which they enjoyed as they believed themselves incapable of enjoying anything on this terrestrial globe.

The patronesses for the Prom consisted of Mrs. Charles Alexander Richmond, Mrs. Edward Ellery, Mrs. James W. Yelverton, Mrs. Willis T. Hanson, Jr., Mrs. Charles F. F. Garis, Mrs. Augustine McGee and Mrs. J. R. Lovejoy, all of Schenectady.

Schenectady lovers of the dance as it should be might just as well pack up their grips and decamp to the Jersey coast or wherever else they may recuperate from the effects of the thrillin' social season. As the Latin poet sadly moaned, "Ilium Fuit" so all we sons of old Union must, forsooth, mournfully declare that the dance has been—at least as far as 1919 is concerned. Dorpian followers of the fifth or dance-presiding daughter of Zeus and Mnemorsyne no longer will enjoy a

"Come and trip it as you go

On the light fantastic toe,"

with the English bard.

The ne plus ultra of Terpischorean enjoyment rounded out a most successful season last evening.

Union College, in the person of over one hundred couples of lotus-eating exponents of modern dance, attended what was perhaps the most successful promenade a Junior class has ever succeeded in putting across the footlights. At ten o'clock the strains divine, of Wittstein's and Ward's ten-piece orchestra commenced to pipe its Lydian chords, and, in the language of Churchill Downs and Pimlico, they were off. As waltz succeeded one-step and as fox-trot rushed to the fore, the delectability only increased. To say that the music was sublime, divine, Orphaic or celestial would fall far short of conveying its true grandeur to the stude who failed to attend. Even the most mundane, blase, Sophomoric disciples of the Muses had to admit that it was the best ever. Or, as one wee Freshman put it, "How can I ever enjoy McGill's again?"

G. E. Expert Talks of Submarine Warfare

Mr. Eveleth Concludes Get-Together With Interesting Anecdotes.

TEAM GETS SEND-OFF.

Comstock Reports and Prof. Bennett Tells of Baseball, Present and Past.

Tuesday night, under the auspices of the College Union, a Get-Together was held in the auditorium of the Chemistry building to work up spirit before the Hamilton game.

After the Terrace Song had been sung, a few spirited cheers were given which made the walls of the hall echo for some time. "Law" Comstock then told us about the trip to Hamilton on the morrow and how Union was out after the enemy's scalp and how the chapel bell at Hamilton would not be tolled to denote a victory for them. "Dewey" Snell then gave us some track "dope" and asked that the inter-class track meet be well supported, as well as that with R. P. I.

Professor John I. Bennett was the next speaker and related how in 400 B. C. Union had defeated Hamilton and the triumphal entry for the team was made, not through the gate, but by a bresh break made in the college wall. He said that perhaps such a performance would not occur this time, but somebody would sing a song in commemoration of the event of our victory.

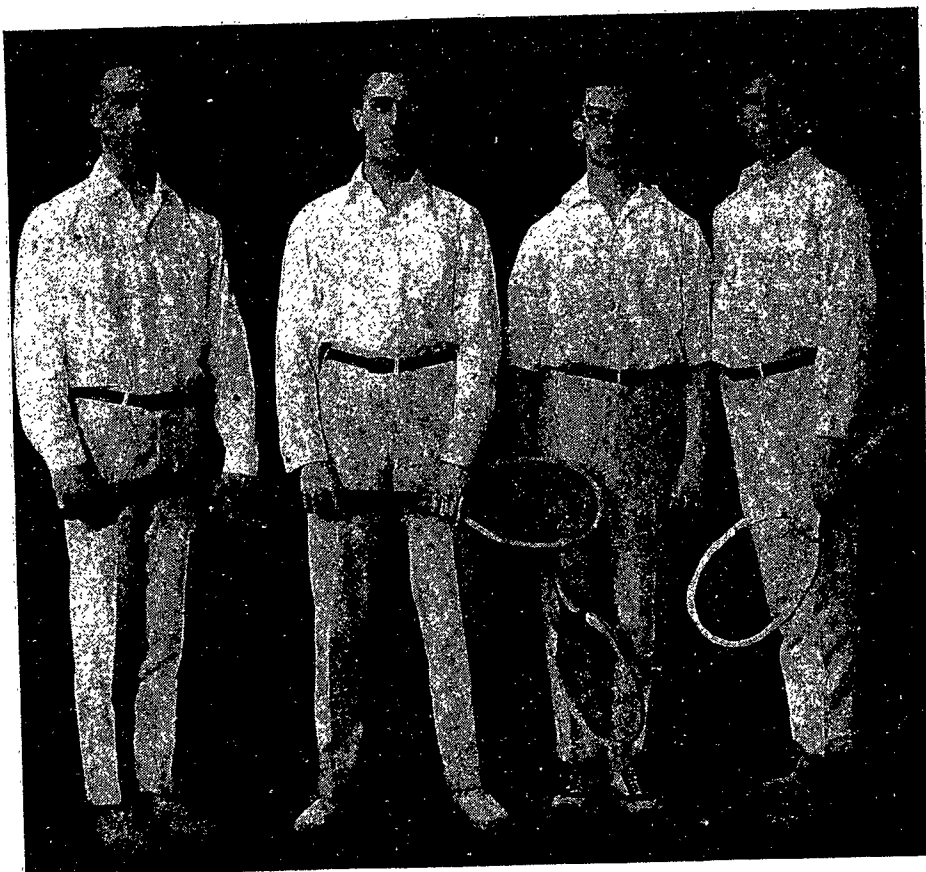

The principal speaker of the evening, Mr. Eveleth of the General Electric Company, was then introduced. His topic was "Submarine Protection and How It Is Applied to Submarines."

A group of men was selected from men in the General Electric laboratories to make tests off the coast of Massachusetts for our government. After they had become thoroughly acquainted with the submarine they then started to invent a device that would locate the position of submarines and their distance from the ship to which the listening apparatus was attached.

The third day after the invention it was in use and the error in angle was from ten to fifteen degrees and in distance about fifteen per cent. But in a heavy sea the roll of the ship and the waves made the machine useless. This and several other minor defects were soon eliminated, and after a severe test by our government the apparatus was accepted. The next step was to get the British to use the detector.

After many trials and very adverse conditions they proved to the British Admiralty the value of the listening machine, and it was adopted. Up to this time the Germans had been sinking ships at such a rate that by this time this year (1919) there would not have been a ship on the sea. The British were doing their best to combat the "subs," but nothing—nets, mines, submarines, air service or destroyers—was very successful, although the fast destroyer was feared by the Germans as their worst enemy.

After this detector was put in use it proved very valuable and where, in the early part of the war, from fourteen to fifteen "subs" were through the

Hamilton Wins by One Run in the Eighth Inning

Errors and Lack of Timely Hits Causes Union's Defeat.

GILBERT HURTS FOOT

Butler Takes Mound in His Place—Union Scores One Run in Both Eighth and Ninth

On May 14th the Garnet ball-tossers went down to defeat again, this time to our old and honored rival, Hamilton. The lack of timely hitting and the numerous errors at inopportune moments were the causes of the defeat. Gilbert and Butler held the Hamilton team down to three hits, while Union managed to get five.

Both teams went out in regular order until the sixth, when Hamilton got her first hit off Gilbert. Two runs were scored in this session, although there would not have been a single score had Gilbert received the support which was due him. Lewis threw wild to first and drew "Bill" Hanley off the bag, giving Campbell the first corner. Johnson hit to Gilbert, who made a bad throw to second in order to make a double play. On this throw Campbell went to third. Pritchard then singled and Campbell romped home with the first run of the game. On the same bingle Johnson went to third, and "Hal" Wittner, in an attempt to catch him off the bag, threw over Eddie Mallery's head and Johnson scored the second tally for Hamilton. Gorman then hit to Gilbert, who sprained his ankle in making the play. He had to retire in favor of Butler, who pulled out of the hole.

English Channel every day, only one a day was trying to pass in the last months of the war.

In connection with his work, the lecturer met and heard of many interesting and dangerous experiences. He told of many of them, one in particular, the fate of the "Bremen," the sister ship of the submarine freighter "Deutschland."

After showing a few slides, the speaker concluded, and the meeting ended with the singing of the Alma Mater.

Union started things in the eighth, when Jack Reynolds singled to left and was forced at second by Beaver, who stole. "Hal" poked one out to the right fielder, who became excited and dropped the ball, scoring Beaver from second. Clark went out, Baumler to Johnson.

Hamilton came through with another tally during its half with two down. Pritchard singled and reached second when "Benny" Beaver's throw got by Brucker at second. Gorman was passed. Pritchard scored on another wild throw by Wittner.

Union rallied in the ninth, when "Chick" Lewis binged to short and scored on Butler's single to right after Brucker and Mallery had been retired.

WINNING TEAM MEETS COLGATE TODAY.

The tennis team will play Colgate here today for the first home game of the season. Tennis has been the winning sport for Union this season. Colgate is expected to bring a fast team to oppose Union. Union will be represented by Captain S. C. Lefkowitz, M. Hawkes, T. Wilber, H. C. Wadsworth and D. C. Dewey, who is expected to play in the doubles.

This is Union's third game, having won from N. Y. U. and Rutgers. Weather conditions prevented playing the games at Williams.

A Spring Junior Week.

A Moving-Up Day Junior Week is an innovation in the history of Union and in many ways a pleasant combination. But Moving-Up Day this year is a memorable one for other reasons than the fact that it is the morning after the Junior Prom.

It marks the beginning of a new era in the history of the college. For the first time in three years the old-time Idol fight has been revived. For the first time in a much longer period, the college has come through the year without a deficit—and this in the face of drastic re-arrangements of courses following the termination of the S. A. T. C.

The Class of 1920 has had an interesting but disappointing career. It was approximately three years ago that war was declared against Germany, and the effect upon the college was chaotic. For two years the ranks of the class diminished. Of the original one hundred ninety-six green-capped Frosh who entered the Idol on September 22, only sixty-three remain. Many have returned late to college to find positions and activities which they strove, filled by underclassmen. They have not dispaired, but have boldly put their shoulder to the wheel. The college has kept on. The old spirit is returning with remarkable resiliency and things are adjusting themselves with phenomenal rapidity.

The present Junior Class, since its Freshman year, has taken a prematurely active part in various college functions. The members who went to war acquitted themselves nobly and those who stayed at home exemplified in their work undying spirit and love for the college. In a Junior year of scarcely four months duration, '20 has carried through the traditions of the college—she has held her Prom and published her Garnet.

Well may today be called the beginning of a new era. It marks the commencement of a golden age; the return to the atmosphere of ante-bellum days—to life as it was when '20 was a Freshman class—the days of normal Union with her spirit raised to the nth power—her football, track, baseball and basketball—her minor sports, her activities, her Frosh Peerades and smokers, and her full quota of students.

To such an era '20 looks forward when she shall hold the place of seniority—may she do as well as she has done. With the author of the Junior song we raise a pledge and say: Here's to the class of '20; a cheer for its members all;

A toast to our many brothers who have answered our countrys call. And here's to you Alma Mater and your sons so brave and true, With your standards high since '95 We pledge a health to you.

What is so Rare —?

It's a rare feeling indeed to find green beneath our feet again and to remark the budding trees. O that we were blest with the eloquence of Lowell who asks,

"What is so rare as a day in June?"

Of course from the standpoint of logic, there's nothing so rare about a day in June. There have been thirty of them every year without a lapse since time immemorial. Verily, only thirty. Would we had Caesar by the neck, we'd make him add another. For as the night the day, so follow July on the heels of June—long, hot, sultry, arid, J-u-l-y—with water, water, everywhere—and not a drop to drink.

It is obvious that the multitudes who nightly frequent the cabarets and roof-gardens of our country will have to adopt some less potent beverage to stimulate their conviviality. Evidently Bacchus must set up some very good substitutes or lose his title. We should very much deplore the departure of this classic gentleman from the realms of Olympus, though his name has been in obsolescence for some centuries in our literature. But obviously he must meet the versatile whims of the Yankee or forever hold his peace.

His transition from the "dominus vinorum" to some constitutional beverage will doubtless be a journey full of perils. One can scarce conceive this portly fellow as symbolic of a nut sundae. But why not coffee? Truly that is a noble drink and, if used with moderation, a safe one. And as some practical person observes, it is a mutation which can be effected without even disturbing the signs which now adorn our cafes, but rather bringing them back to their true etymology.

Who knows but that the return of the coffee house may be instrumental in giving that great American book we have heard about just as in England it was so prolific a mother of eighteenth century literature? There is a rude rusticity in Dick Steeles nightly strolls over to "Will's" for a pipe and coffee with Mr. Addison, which would be completely overshadowed by the classical atmosphere of a demi tasse and a Melachrino, "two minutes from Payne Gate!" Truly, this savors more of the Horatian culture, if we can see him in his works. He did not smoke, because there was no one to teach him how, and he sipped his "Old Massie" sub arbore for want of an aromatic cup of Java. But we feel that had he lived in our enlightened age he would have preferred the Malachrino. Mr. Addison's pipe would have been vile and repulsive to such a gentle nature. As for the coffee though, it would sound rasping and incongruous thus to read,

"Quo me, Bacche, rapis 'coffee' plenum?"

Sigma Xi to Alter Basis of Election

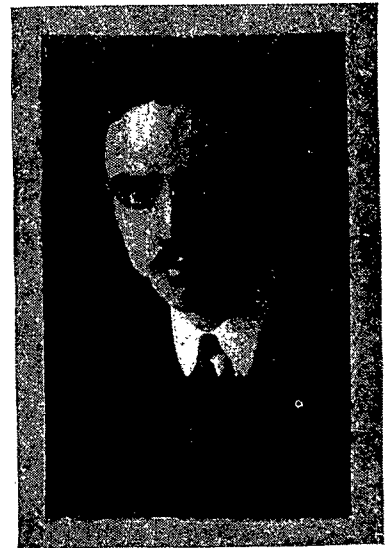

Only Those Who Have Completed Original Theses Eligible to Full Membership.

Acting upon the suggestion of the national society the Union Chapter of Sigma Xi has voted to take part in the movement now going on in the society at large to change the basis of election to full membership into the fraternity. Beginning with this year the chapter will elect to full membership only those members of the Senior class who have completed a piece of original work, who have prepared a thesis on their work and who are otherwise eligible. The chapter will elect to associate membership those members of the Senior class who have marked ability in those pursuits which it is the object of the society to promote but who have not done a piece of original work. The associate members may be advanced to full membership when they have met the requirements, which the national society is now insisting upon, namely that they have carried out some research work.

There is a slight difference in the insignia granted to the active and associate members. The active members are given the right to wear the usual Sigma Xi Key. The associate members are given the right to wear a key somewhat different in design which bears upon its face the Greek letters of the society and on its reverse side the name of the college and date of election.

Three Alpha Deltas Get Croix de Guerre

"Cal" and Law Bowman and S. B. Eddy Decorated for Bravery Under Fire by French.

According to a communication received this week, Captain Spencer B. Eddy and Lieutenants Calvin C. and Law Bowman, all members of the Alpha Delta Phi fraternity, have been decorated with the French Croix de Guerre for bravery in action.

Captain Eddy left Union for Madison Barracks in May, 1917, and at the time of his decoration was serving in the ammunition train.

Lieut. Law Bowman, Battery C, One Hundred and Eighth Artillery, on September 6, 1918, during the passage of the River Vesle, under a violent bombardment of high explosive and gas shells, succeeded in disentangling a 155 mm. gun, which was blocked on the bridge. At the same time he maintained order in his company in spite of the difficult situation. He was seriously wounded and has since been presented the Croix de Guerre. At the time he was wounded, Lieutenant Bowman, with the aid of two guns for crutches, reached a place of safety. He was confined to a hospital for six months following. The communication was signed "General Headquarters, the Marshal Commander-in-Chief of the French Armies in the East. Petain." A brother, Lieut. Calvin C. Bowman, has also been awarded the Croix de Guerre and at present is serving in the French army. Another brother, Lieut. H. Bowman, is on the United States steamship Sacramento and is on his way to Russia.

Avoid These Troubles

It makes a fellow mad, to pay a bill twice. Nearly everyone has paid some bill twice, because he could not prove he had paid it the first time, having paid it in currency.

There is a feeling of permanency and security, to the person who writes his check for the payment of bills.

If you are not a customer of this bank, and are not paying your bills by check, we invite you to make this your banking house.

Appalled at the extent to which modern institutions of learning have taken the primrose path, the Y. M. has instituted its course of student reform. The germ was incubated at the Student Volunteer Conference with an intensive study of capital district home life, and, armed with good intentions, the army set forth to conquer. In spite of the mutterings of the benighted, they have kept the good work up and recently stormed Saratoga. Just two weeks after the dulcet tones of the Glee Club moved the stones of that venerable city, went forth that ringing call to lost souls that the enlightened ones of our number felt moved to issue. The batting average of the team was wonderful. Not a man struck out and it was even rumored that two of the team stole home during the engagement. They made an unforgettable impression on the people of Saratoga, and it is said that already the morals of the Race Track City have jumped one hundred per cent—which way it is hard to say just now.

VALE! VALE! CAESAR!

He was a Freshman,
A young, doughty warrior—
Sound out the tocsin
And tell of his fame!
The earth is his divan
And long will he slumber
Till "Gabe" on his Klaxon
Shall call him by name.

Last night in the dance-hall
With conquest before him—
Sound loud the tocsin
And tell of his fame!
He sure made 'em all fall,
The gathered about him,
The flute and the violin
Whispered his name.

Now bright eyes are dimmed
And fair ones' hopes shattered—
Open the psalter,
Sing praises o'er his head.
Oh! How he shimmied—
But, with garments tattered,
He sleeps in a welter
Of green and of red!

"Resolved, That since classes break up the day so annoyingly, too much study takes the joy out of college life."

Our first evidence of the proximity of Junior Week this year was sensed in a novel and somewhat awesome manner. One of the more intelligent members of our soon-to-be Sophomore class appeared at classes without the usual adornment necessary to a peaceful existence on the campus, namely, a Freshman toque. His nonchalance seemed appalling and one would almost believe him an apostle of new thought or a member of the Student Volunteer Band, but on closer questioning it was learned that for him Junior Week commenced on Monday. No doubt the sun shining on his denuded crown will start the germs of knowledge growing which are supposed to be lurking there.

TO ———.

Ne'er have I gazed on brighter, kinder face,

Ne'er gazed on lovelier flaming, golden hair;

Nor have I looked on pearly teeth so fair.

This nymph must be a Naiad or a Grace,

A goddess surely, fairest of her race;

E'en lovely Aphrodite ne'er would dare Her dazzling charms with my unknown's compare

For fear her beauty might take second place.

Yet what is fairer than her glorious mind

That casts a mellow light on all around,

Exalts the humble, raises me on high

When, sore distressed, I fain would solace find?

My love is but a silent queen uncrowned,

And truth the throne on which she doth rely.

THE PAST AND PRESENT

Keep abreast with the times. We are not living in the stage coach decade, at which time the mentioning of flying machines would have been taken as an idle jest. In the present century you wouldn't think of traveling as one did in by-gone days. Neither would you of having your shoes repaired by the old style hand method way, if you knew the superiority in our up-to-date machine way of repairing.

TERPISCHORE AND HER DEVOTEES HOLD SUCCESSFUL EVENT OF SEASON.

Hanson, Jr., Mrs. Charles F. F. Garis, Mrs. Augustine McGee and Mrs. J. R. Lovejoy, all of Schenectady.

The favors for the men consisted of a black leather cigarette case, while the ladies were presented with a black leather card case. Across the front of each was written in gilt the words "The 1920 Prom," while in the upper left-hand corner was a gilt embossing of the college seal. In each of the souvenirs was the dance order. The program itself was white and garnet, harmonizing with the color scheme of the decorations for the Gym.

At five o'clock the music ceased and the beatific lads and lasses accompanied Aurora, the rosy-fingered dawn, to Hanna Hall, where all set to work to ward off the insistent attacks of the cohorts of Morpheus with "Lipton's" and other hated drugs soon to be banned by this nation of progress. Don Forsyth's one and only jazz band immediately piped forth joyful strains and succeeded in keeping at a distance heavy eyelids and other symbols of the dreaded God of Sleep—the enemy of all who sip at the Fountains of Aganippe and Hippocrene on the Helicon Mount in Boeota, or Michigan, as "Johnny" Bennett chooses to call it. The "Dawn Tea," as the Prom Committee chose to name this seance in Hanna Hall, was held under the auspices of Phi Alpha and proved almost as much of a success as the Prom itself and shed its radiant light as brilliantly as Jack Upp's famous affair did at the 1917 Prom—the first, and until this morning the only, "Dawn Tea."

After this most gorgeous celebration the happy and contented guests trod lightly over the glistening dewdrops to the various fraternity houses, where the underclassmen stripped for action for the perhaps still more historic, still more Union—perhaps even still more enjoyable for some—Idol scrap. Moving-up Day was then officially on and Junior Week entered the home stretch like a "noble deed in a naughty world."

TERRACE COUNCIL TAPS SUCCESSORS

a member of the Phi Gamma Delta fraternity.

Terrace Council is the Senior Honorary society to whom is entrusted the honor and responsibility of guiding and overseeing the activities of the student body. It is composed of seven Seniors; four of whom are-tapped on Moving-Up Day by the retiring Council; the president of the Senior class, and two others elected by the student body in the fall. Needless to say Terrace Council is the highest honor that can be bestowed upon a Union man by his fellow students.

There is no significance in the order of tapping since this is decided by lot.

RUTGERS GOES DOWN TO TUNE OF 7 TO 2.

Hanley hit to pitcher, but instead of throwing to first, Ruel tried to put the ball on Hanley and dropped it. Beaver scored and Hanley took second. Wittner out, third to first.

Errors by Lewis and Mallery, together with slow fielding by the Union infield, allowed Rutgers to score twice in the seventh.

After Holleran fanned in Union's half, Reynolds singled. Beaver was safe on Weller's error and Reynolds took second. Hanley was put out at first, but both Reynolds and Beaver advanced a base. Wittner doubled, scoring Reynolds and Beaver, but Hal was put out trying to reach second.
