WEATHER MAN KEEPS TEAM FROM PRACTICE

Goff Probably In the Box Tomorrow.

NETMEN MEET RUTGERS

Track Team in Williamstown Tomorrow—Capt. Morison and Twenty Men Go To Berkshires.

The baseball team will play its second home game Saturday afternoon with Stevens as opponents. The weather has been so cold and unpleasant that the work out of doors has been limited this week.

Stevens is an uncertain factor and may prove unusually strong. Tamsett has done the best with what sunshine he has had and the team will be in the best shape possible for the contest. Homer Goff, whose work this season has been of the highest order, will probably be found in the box when the game is called. Fancher and Collins will work in the middle of the infield. That this combination is a strong one is shown by their exhibition against Rutgers.

Galbraith and Travis will probably start the game at first and right field, but Peaslee and Miller are working hard for their places and are very apt to be given a chance before nine innings are over.

Tennis.

The weather has prevented any work during the week by the tennis team, who play their first match on the home courts with Rutgers on Saturday. Last Saturday the two teams broke even, each winning two matches in singles and one match of doubles. Union looks forward to a more favorable outcome to the coming tilt, but the lack of practice may prevent the team from showing its best form.

Captain Girling and Beckett will play one and two as before, with Gillespie and Loughlin playing three and four. The doubles teams will also be the same as in the first match, Girling and Beckett forming one, Gillespie and Loughlin the other.

Rutgers' team is a matter of

WAR NOT LIKELY TO SHUT THE OLD BLUE GATE, DR. RICHMOND TELLS STUDENTS' PARENTS

President Richmond has sent to the parents of all the students a letter which says:

"The college will open as usual in the fall with the full staff of instructors. All the regular courses will be given and no interruption of the work as announced in the catalogue is expected."

The letter further states the action of the Board of Trustees with reference to the establishment of a Reserve Officers' Training Corps and outlines the military work now being carried on.

COLLEGE HEADS MEET SAT. IN WASHINGTON

Dr. Richmond In Attendance at Conference On College War Questions.

President Richmond left last night for New York. From there he goes to Washington to attend a meeting of college presidents to be held in Continental Hall at ten o'clock tomorrow morning. The meeting is called to consider the problems which the war and the creation of a great army present to the higher institutions of learning.

The meeting will be attended by presidents of institutions represented in the Association of American colleges and the Association of State Universities. It is called at the request of the committee on Science, Research and Education of the Council of National Defense. It is expected that between three and four hundred men will be present.

The importance of conserving, properly utilizing and mobilizing the resources offered by the educational institutions of the country will be the principal subjects considered.

COSTUMES WILL COUNT IN ALUMNI PARADE

The class of '97, which gave their costume money to the college, protested against the action of the Commencement Committee in deciding to discount costumes in awarding the Waldron Cup and as a result the old rules will apply, both percentage of members in line and costumes being taken into consideration.

Y. M. C. A. BANQUET.

The Y. M. C. A. will hold a banquet Monday evening at the Twentieth Century restaurant. John Imrie, '17, will act as toastmaster and Dean Ripton and President Richmond will speak. Seven-thirty is the hour set for the affair.

Complete List of Men Recommended for Officer's Training Camp To Be Published Monday.

Next Monday THE CONCORDIENSIS will print a complete list of the Union men who have been recommended for the Officers' Reserve Training Camp at Madison Barracks.

Yesterday was the last day for applying for admittance. Wednesday night a large number of students went to 29 Front Street to apply and to take the physical examination. The last man was not examined until four o'clock yesterday morning, so large was the number waiting to be examined.

Forty Union students took the examination for the appointment to the camp. Some of this number were examined at Albany, but the greater part applied in Schenectady. Eight have already received their "yellow slip," which signifies that they have been recommended. The total number who are recommended will not be known until tomorrow.

Sidney Talbot, '18, has enlisted in the Naval Reserve.

DR. RICHMOND HAS HIGH PRAISE FOR DR. CHASE.

President Richmond spoke at the annual dinner of THE CONCORDIENSIS held Monday night, April 30, at the Mohawk Hotel and in alluding to the expected departure of Dr. Stanley P. Chase for the Officer's Reserve Training Camp at Madison Barracks said:

"Since he came to us Dr. Chase has won a high place in our affection and esteem. We are sorry to lose him, but we shall hold his chair for him and when he returns he shall be warmly welcomed."

Dr. Chase was one of the speakers and Prof. John I. Bennett acted as toastmaster. All three speakers touched upon the present war as a struggle for liberty. Prof. Bennett referred to the foundations of liberty laid by the men who signed the Declaration. Dr. Chase spoke on the ideals of freedom and Dr. Richmond emphasized the fact that this war is only another fight for human freedom and against human slavery.

UNION SENDS CORDIAL WORDS TO FRENCHMEN

Student Committee and Dr. Richmond Write Messages Which Dr. Finley Will Convey.

Charles Lester, '17, F. G. Bascom, '18, and Brenton Taylor, '19, were made the committee to draft a message to be sent from the student body to the students of the colleges of France by Dr. John H. Finley, Commissioner of Education of New York State, who soon leaves for France.

The committee drew up the following message, which has been forwarded to Dr. Finley:

"Students of France:
The students of Union College rejoice at this opportunity to send to the students of France, most cordial words of greeting and fraternity.

The gallant conduct of the brave soldiers of France has been an inspiration to us and we look forward eagerly to the day when we may stand by their side and aid them in the fight for civilization and freedom, even as your countrymen aided our fathers in their early struggle against oppression.

In plighting you our faith we can use no words more appropriate than those addressed to the Father of our Country by your distinguished countryman:

"Entre vous et nous, c'est a la vie, a la mort!"

Dr. Finley also takes with him a message from President Richmond and the faculty, which is as follows:

"The President and Faculty of Union College, by the hand of our good friend, Doctor John Huston Finley, sends greetings to the Universities and Colleges of France.

Our friendship with you is one of many years. More than a century ago our college buildings were designed and erected by one of your countrymen, Joseph Jacques, and his original drawing now hangs in the president's office.

Union College was the first college in America to allow the substitution of the French language for the ancient languages in the curriculum, and the old seal of the college, with the head of Minerva,

HOLD YOUR HORSES!

Ever since war was declared there has been rife in the student body, a feeling of uncertainty and disquietude. Everything has been in the air. No one knew what the next day would bring forth. The stories of the desolation of English universities has been recalled and the thought has arisen that perhaps college would not be open next fall.

The letter of the President, part of which we print in another column, ends that apprehension. But the disquietude still remains. Students are hesitating to make plans for their college life next year.

Such a state of mind should be overcome by those who do not definitely know that they will leave college before commencement or that they will not return in the fall. If a man is uncertain where the immediate future will find him, let him be ready for what may come, but let him by no means abandon his customary occupations.

Let those of us who may return in the fall make our plans as though times were normal. Let us go ahead with our undertakings as though we were assured that nothing would interrupt them. When something does interrupt them, then will be the time to abandon them. And we shall be the better prepared to meet our duty, if our time has not been spent in vaporous speculation and fruitless indecision.

A PLUMBER WANTED IN THE GYM

Several of the shower baths in the gymnasium have been out of order for several weeks. Those who frequently use these showers say that more than half of them either do not run at all or run hot water only or cold water only. Often there are as many as ten men in line waiting to use the few showers that are in good working order.

Half the value of gymnasium exercises is in the shower bath which follows it. All who use the pool must bathe before going into the pool and they should bathe upon coming out of the pool. There are enough men to use all the showers that are in the gymnasium. Why not have all the showers in a condition to be used?

PRESIDENT RICHMOND'S ADDRESS

Commencement, Albany School of Pharmacy, May 1.

This day that marks the successful close of your course in this school is altogether different from any of the previous years in the history of the school. I cannot bring myself to give you simply the usual words of counsel which have been appropriate at other times. This is a time when the ordinary considerations of our daily employment have, by common consent, been put aside for the great and overpowering business which this country has in hand. We have been thinking of our own business and professional success. But today every good citizen is putting these considerations out of his mind and thinking only of how he may best serve his country. And that is your question as you stand at the end of your course and at the beginning of the active practice in the field you have chosen. My advice to you is, that before this day is over you sit down alone and face with the utmost seriousness the question which you must face: How can I best serve my country?

Most of you young men are qualified for active service in the Army or Navy. I should be glad to see everyone of you who is able, take service in one branch or the other of military service. This is for you to decide. But whatever may be your decision as to this particular question, there can be but one decision upon the main question. There is no other choice for you or for any of us but that of offering ourselves, with whatever training or equipment we have, unreservedly, to the service of the government. This choice I know you are prepared to make. In this way only can you meet our high expectations. And only in this way can you be a worthy son of the alma mater which today sends you forth. In the name of Union University, and of all its bears the inscription: "Sous les lois de Minerve nous devenons tous freres."

This may well be the burden of our message to you. Brothers under the laws of Minerva, we are united by still closer bonds under the laws of liberty and fraternity. As brothers we greet you and as brothers we welcome the occasion that calls us to fight by your side and to make common sacrifice with you in the exalted cause to which you have dedicated your best and bravest. Our hearts go out for the loss of your brave sons. We will join with you in giving praise to those who have paid the last full measure of devotion, and we pledge you our support to the end. We will send our sons to fight side by side with yours in this supreme struggle for the liberties of France, of America and of the whole world. And in the final victory, which will surely come, we shall see, waving together, the Tri-color of France and the Stars and Stripes of America."

(Signed)

officers, I bid you God speed. We wish you success in your calling but above all we wish you that higher success which comes to those who put duty first and who care more for their country and for the common good than they do for any private interest or personal advantage.

The purpose of Dr. Finley's visit to the schools and colleges of France, is to learn what suggestions their experience during the war may have for similar institutions in America. Several years ago Dr. Finley was an exchange professor to several of the French universities and it is to them that he will carry greetings from American colleges, particularly the colleges of this state.

The following universities are on his itinerary: Paris, Nancy, Dijon, Lyons, Grenoble, Montpellier, Toulouse, Bordeaux, Poiniers, Rennes, Caen.
