WIND AND WEATHER IMPROVE DIAMOND

First and Second Teams Play
Four-Inning Game.

POSITIONS WELL FILLED

Goff, Cantey, Witner and Mc-
Cauley Show Good Form
As Battery.

The continuance of fair weather and the fresh winds have combined to put the diamond in a promising condition and Coach Tamsett took advantage of this fact to put his youngsters through a practice game yesterday afternoon following the regular practice.

After spending some time at batting and fielding practice, the boys were formed into tentative first and second teams and sent out to play a four inning game.

Goff and Cantey worked nicely in the box and Witner and McCauley trapped the pellet in fine style back of the plate. Galbraith and Travis vied for first base honors, Collins and Fancher opposed each other at second, and Moynihan and Imrie guarded the third sack. Sutton worked well at short, with Peaslee and Hagar also bidding fair for the position. Miller, Friday and Mosher operated in the field with slight advantages over their opponents Gale, Wallace and Girling.

Tamsett allowed no opportunity to improve the men pass by ungrasped and was in action continually, rounding the teams into some semblance of base ball form. He was somewhat hampered in making selections as the squad which reported was slightly smaller than usual.

Yesterday's game lasted four innings, and the men lined up as follows:

Holleran, Goff, Cantey, Benedict	Pitchers.
Witner	McCauley
	Catcher.
Galbraith	Travis
	First Base.
Collins	Fancher
	Second Base.
Moynihan	Imrie

UNION BATTALION MAY HAVE ARMY RIFLES FOR TARGET PRACTICE AND MANUAL OF ARMS.

Rifles and ammunition will be provided the students drilling under Capt. A. M. Jackson, in case arms and munitions can be obtained from the Department of War. Efforts are being made by Capt. Jackson to secure a complement of arms from the Chief of Ordnance at Washington. Hon. Hiram C. Todd, '97, of Saratoga, is co-operating with Capt. Jackson in negotiations with army officials at Washington. Mr. Todd is a trustee of the college and is also a veteran of the Spanish War. He is chairman of the committee of his class which has charge of the arrangements for the twentieth reunion of the class to be held this commencement. It was this class which took the money it had raised for reunion costumes and sent it to President Richmond to be used for military training purposes.

Capt. Jackson is eager to put the students through the manual of arms and practice in rifle shooting this spring and he is inclined to be sanguine about the likelihood of securing rifles from the government. The same optimism does not prevail among others in charge of student training. The prospect of receiving arms from the government at this time they consider to be rather dubious. However, application has been made to Adjutant General Stotesbury and the Chief of Ordnance and if it is possible to secure arms from the government they will be secured and drill and practice with the pieces will start as soon as they are received.

Before applying to the Federal Government it was attempted to obtain guns from the State arsenals, but no pieces were available.

UNION MEN AMONG COTERIE OF IMPS

New Comic Monthly Appears,
Fathered By Columbia Journalists of Renown.

Morris P. Schaeffer, '14, is President of "The Imps" who publish "Imp," a new comic college magazine, and Sidney W. Talbot, '18, of THE CONCORDIENSIS staff is one of "The Imps," according to the masthead of the new publication. The first number of "Imp" is just off the press. The magazine is done after the Cornell Widow, the Harvard Lampoon and similar comic college magazines. There are apparently 58 Imps, representing 52 colleges and universities. Ten Imps are from State Universities. Columbia, C. C. N. Y., N. Y. U., Lafayette, U. S. Naval Academy, Rochester, William and Mary, National Academy of Design, Hamilton, Hobart and Union are represented, besides lesser institutions of learning with unfamiliar names.

Morris P. Schaeffer was manager of THE CONCORDIENSIS for the year 1913-1914. After graduation here he entered Columbia Law School and became manager of the Columbia Spectator.

"Imp" bears evidence of being the child of a group of young writers whose activities centre about Columbia University. Morrie Ryskind, secretary of the Imp Publishing Association, was recently banished from the Pulitzer School of Journalism on account of conduct objectionable to Dr. Talcott Williams, director of the School. Herman J. Mankiewicz, a contributor to "Imp," was one of the authors of "Dynamite."

SEVERAL ELECTIONS OCCUR NEXT WEEK

Various Organizations Will Ring Out the Old and Ring In the New.

Next week will see the 1917 elections in many of the campus organizations.

On Monday at 4 P. M. the Publication Board meets to choose a Concordiensis staff to succeed H. Ralph Knight, as Editor-in-Chief, Fawcett W. Porter, as Managing Editor. Men will also be chosen to succeed Schwartz, Chapman, Loughlin, Hainsworth and Young as Assistant Editors. Members of the Freshman and Sophomore classes will also be chosen at this time as reporters for next year.

William Kennedy, '18, Assistant Manager of THE CONCORDIENSIS will assume the managership on April 15. In past years it has been customary for the Business Manager to continue in office until June, but this year Manager Mandeville desired an early retirement.

Monday evening the Glee Club will meet to elect a leader to succeed Hugh Williams.

The Chemical Society will meet Monday evening to elect officers to succeed R. G. Elmore as President, Kenneth E. Baird as Vice-President, George H. Wallace as Secretary and Earl M. Hyatt as Treasurer.

Tuesday evening the Band will elect officers to succeed Leon J. Walrath as Leader, Wilson O. Clough as President, F. N. Jenkins as Assistant Leader, Russell Hempill as Secretary-Treasurer, and E. R. Wood as Librarian.

'97 VOTED TO A MAN FOR TRAINING GIFT

Enthusiasm Shown In Letters to Dr. Richmond.

PRAISE STUDENT SPIRIT

To Pay Training Bills Class Will March In Commencement
Parade In Plain Clothes.

To march in citizens clothes in the alumni parade at their twentieth reunion and to donate to the college the money they had raised for costumes was the unanimous and enthusiastic decision of the class of 1897, according to a letter received by Dr. Richmond from the chairman of the reunion celebration, Hon. Hiram C. Todd, of Saratoga.

"The members of my class, '97, have replied unanimously and enthusiastically in favor of donating $500 to the college to help defray the expenses of military training," writes Mr. Todd. The receipt of this gift was announced in chapel by Dr. Richmond on last Thursday.

The class treasurer, James Wingate, of Schenectady, in forwarding the check to Dr. Richmond, wrote, "Realizing the nation's need in the present crisis, we have unanimously voted to march in citizens clothes and to hand you herewith a check for Five Hundred Dollars to be applied toward the expense of military training in connection with the college."

Dr. Richmond's reply to Mr. Wingate was as follows:

My dear Mr. Wingate:
I have the generous check from the class of '97. May I thank you, and through you the class, for this wise and patriotic action? At such a time as this it seems as if we should concentrate our efforts upon the one thing before us. It is an immense satisfaction to me to feel that of your own accord and with no suggestions from the college, you should take this way of expressing your devotion at once to the college and to the country.

We shall use this fund as we have need to further the ends you have in mind, and I am sure you will all take more satisfaction in knowing that your money is working in this way than you would in contemplating your handsome persons decorated in the national colors.

Let me thank you again and in the name of the college, and believe me,

Faithfully yours,

CHARLES A. RICHMOND.

The spirit of the '97 alumni in regard to the gift is shown in the replies received by the committee

AN EXAMPLE THAT MUST BE FOLLOWED.

The class of 1897 has set the example for abjuring frivolous and unproductive expenditure of money and diverting money that would be spent for pleasure to the crying need of the time. The United States will not wage a "dollar war", but the dollar must be saved from going for things that are trivial and vain. Perhaps people in this country will not be compelled to do without so much that is bright and sweet to them as the people of England and France, but privations there must be.

Much money is spent here every year by the students which could be turned to better account at a time like this. The Freshman banquet costs five hundred dollars. Junior Week costs at least five thousand. These are but the magnificent items. Added to them the smaller savings that could be made would give a surprising total.

The situation has not yet reached its full gravity. In their little pleasures people are still doing much as they did in peace times. The thoughtful and the provident, however, will realize that they cannot long continue thus, and will prepare cheerfully to surrender their momentary joys to the common cause.

The students have already shown, by their generous contribution last winter to the war prisoners' relief, that they are ready to sacrifice much.

The Broadway restaurateurs have put their establishments on a war footing, by kicking out the lounge lizards and tango snakes. The bar flies will soon come in for a hard swat. Booze is interdicted by the efficiency of modern organized murder. England is putting her corn into bread, the German must now do without his scidel of beer, Russians early in the war quit deluging their viscera with vodka.

The great American galaxy of intoxicants—cocktails, highballs stingers, fizzes, slings—will be extinguished next.

In the brilliant lexicon of picturesque slang used by Billy Sunday we find omitted one word worthy of a place there—guts.

"Imp" was founded in the interest of the amateur spirit," says the editorial of the new publication whose appearance is noticed in another column. We understand the distaste of its founders for the argente taint of professionalism when we read the names of the principal publishers and contributors: Morrie Ryskind, J. N. Singer, A. Burstein, Herman J. Man-kiewicz.

Some of "Imp's" stuff is good and some evidences the truth of one of its jeux d'esprit, "all work and no play makes the professional joker a dull chap to read."

TENNIS PLAYERS SOON WILL BEGIN PRACTICE.

The call for the tennis squad will be made Monday and preliminary practice will begin Tuesday in preparation for the 1917 season. Owing to the softness of the courts it has been impossible to start the seasons practice earlier, but with the appearance of a good squad and constant practice for the next few days it is highly probable that Union will be represented by a good team when the opening game of the season is played at Trinity College on the twentieth.

Immediately after the Trinity game the team will travel to Rutgers where they will oppose the Rutgers netmen on the twenty-first.

All men who wish to try out for the team should hand their names to Captain Girling not later than Monday afternoon and should report for practice as soon as it is announced.

SYMBOL PLAY RECITAL TOMORROW IN CHAPEL.

On Sunday afternoon at three o'clock in the college chapel, Mr. Edward A. Mead of New York City, will render a dramatic recital of "The Servant in the House," a symbolical play in five acts by Charles Rann Kennedy.

Mr. Mead, who is well known in collegiate circles and who is at the present time making his annual spring tour of the eastern colleges will appear under the auspices of the college Y. M. C. A. No admission will be charged and the faculty, students and their friends are invited. The program is appended.

ACT I.—"I am the servant in this house. I have my work to do. Would you like to help me—help to spin the fairy tale?"

ACT II.—"Do discuss the matter like a man of the world." "God's not watching: let's give as little and grab as much as we can."

ACT III.—"Everything comes true if you only wish hard enough."

Edward A. Mead who will give a dramatic recital of "The Servant in the House," in chapel to-morrow.

ACT IV.—"Make me the lord and master of this house for one little hour."

ACT V.—"Now if you're ready, comrade, you and I together."

Civilian Dress For the "Officers Reserve"

Those who drill on the campus twice a-week from four to six, will appreciate the vigor and brisk manliness of VARSITY FIFTY-FIVE Hart, Schaffner & Marx clothes. Until such time as the war department sees fit to garb them in army boots and suits of khaki they will find no better and no more inspiring uniform than that furnished by Hart, Schaffner & Marx.

The belted coats of many VARSITY FIFTY-FIVE models possess a military swing that will make the future officer proud of his martial step and lively appearance.

Your drill will have more "pep" if you don a Hart, Schaffner & Marx suit.

Order your spring model today.

CHEMIST COMES TO INTERVIEW SENIORS

Mr. Leonard Wickenden, Chief Chemist of the New York Laboratories of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company, was a visitor in the Department of Chemistry Tuesday afternoon. The object of his visit was to interview some of the members of the class in Organic Chemistry with reference to taking up work with him upon graduation. He gave Union College the preference over several other institutions which had candidates for the vacancies in his laboratories.

VOSBURGH '14 HAS ARTICLE IN CHEMISTRY JOURNAL

Mr. W. C. Vosburgh '14, instructor in Chemistry in the College for two years after his graduation, is the author of an article in the April number of "The Journal of the American Chemical Society" on "Kinetics of Invertase Action." The article represents part of the results and of research work which Mr. Vosburgh did in Columbia in connection with Professor Nelson. Mr. Vosburgh has recently been made a fellow in Columbia University and is a candidate for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy.

BOWLING LEAGUE FINALS TO BE PLAYED SOON

The finals of the Inter-Fraternity Bowling League between Lambda Chi Alpha and Chi Psi have been delayed because of the difficulty in finding suitable time for play. Lambda Chi Alpha won the only match played to date, by a score of two to one. The second match will probably be played early next week, and if a third match is required the team captains will settle on the date after this match.

from members of the class.

"By all means appropriate the five hundred for the good of the cause and the glory of our college," wrote one.

"Your plan has my hearty approval," said another. "Our college should come first of all. It is fine to know that old Union has taken such a noble stand."

"Donate every cent for Union College military," was the dictum of a third.

Dr. Richmond has also received a letter from the class of '97 in which they congratulate him upon the attitude towards the war "We take this opportunity through you to congratulate the faculty and students of our alma mater upon their patriotism, which they are so substantially demonstrating, in this great world crisis," are the words they use.

Before the receipt of this gift debts had already been incurred in connection with military training. Dr. Richmond said in his speech at the Press Club dinner that he had authorized the purchase of field wireless equipment. "with my usual optimism that money to pay for it will be forthcoming from somewhere." Under such circumstances and with other expenditures to be made for military training, the gift of the class of '97 was most opportune.

Banner of Patriarch President Stands Beside His Portrait In Chapel.

The flag which floated from the President's house throughout the Civil War has been presented to the college by Dr. Duryea of the class of '82. It has been attached to a staff and will stand in the chapel beside the large portrait of Dr. Nott, who was president of the college at the time of the Civil War. There it will remain until the war against Germany is over.

The flag is a large one and the excellent state of preservation that it is in would lead to the belief that Dr. Nott took good care not to expose it to the mercy of too boisterous breezes. The stars are arranged not in parallel lines but in circular fashion.
