MUSICAL CLUBS ON THANKSGIVING TOUR

Leave Wednesday for Four Day Trip.

NEW YORK CONCERT

Others in Cambridge, Flushing,
Scranton and Binghamton.

While the rest of us are eating turkey with the old folks at home, the Musical Clubs will tour the metropolitan district giving a series of five entertainments. The musicians will leave Schenectady at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon for Cambridge, N. Y., where the first program will be carried out in the Cambridge Opera House. On Wednesday evening they will be

IRA A. CALL SPEAKS BEFORE ENGINEERS; WAS INVENTOR OF THE CALL SWITCH

Ira A. Call, widely known as the inventor of the call switch, spoke before the engineering department on Friday. He talked on the subject of "Railroads and Railroad Men of the Future." He said, in part, as follows:

"What the prophet was to the times when men were developing social principles, the inventor is to these days when men are rushing ahead into marvelous new practicalities.

"Eighty-seven short years ago in Maryland between the village of Ellicottsville and Baltimore they laid a little pair of lines of rails on logs, constituting the first railroad.

"Shall the principle of two rails change to one with a gyrscopic stabilizer? Shall aerial transportation wipe out surface trackage? Shall motor car carriage develop to the mortal impairment of the great railroad systems? These questions are not too far fetched to be serious.

"The railroads are the arteries of our national life. Without them the processes of our modern civilization would not be possible. They unite the lonely rural valley with the populous industrial center. They link mine to smelter, forest to factory, field to counter, port to port, ocean to ocean.

"Since 1829 the trackage has increased from 23 to 326,000 miles in the United States alone.

"On the 1st of June last year I accompanied a body of 300 engineers on a special train to an inspection of the completion of the B. & O.'s latest improvement. What we saw would have been an impossibility but for the genius of inventors and the efficiency of engineers of the present day. Twenty years ago no sane person could have thought of the feat of Magnolia Pass as a practical thing.

"There is certain to be a great change in railroad men of the future. The days when men rose by sheer inherent personal force from the ranks to the presidencies of great railroads as did Hill, Shonts, Cooper, Cassat and many others have nearly gone by. The

PHI ALPHA BALL AT THE MOHAWK TONIGHT

Event to Open New Ball Room.

O'NEIL WILL PLAY.

Mrs. R. J. Chambers and Mrs. R. H. Vaughn Are Patronesses.

The annual ball of the Phi Alpha Society will be held in the new ball room of the Mohawk Hotel, at nine o'clock this evening. The patronesses will be Mrs. Robert J. Chambers and Mrs. Roblee H. Vaughn, both of Schenectady, and the committee in charge of the affair is John J. Beattie, chairman; Spencer B. Eddy, and Pierre Hoag. Music will be furnished by the ever popular O'Neil Orchestra of Albany.

This function has always occupied a prominent place in Union society life, and there is no doubt but that this year's affair will uphold tradition. The committee has put forth every effort to make the evening one long round of enjoyment for all who attend.

The management of the hotel is pushing the work of completing the hall that it may be entirely finished for this occasion, and this will be the first affair to be held in the new room. It is understood that no pains have been spared to make it one of the finest in northern New York, and if it is finished similar to the other portions of the hotel, there is no doubt but that it will be.

DEWITT C. MOORE '77 DIES IN JOHNSTOWN

Death Due to Heart Trouble.

A LEADING ATTORNEY

Had Gained National Prominence
With His Law Writing.

DeWitt C. Moore, Union 1877, one of Johnstown's leading attorneys, law writer, and well known citizen, was found dead on his bed in his apartments in the Moore building, East Main Street, Johnstown, N. Y. Coroner J. W. Joslin was summoned and after an examination, pronounced death due to heart trouble. Mr. Moore died sometime during the night of Tuesday, November 19th.

He was sixty years of age, and a son of Frederick C. Moore. Born in Johnstown, March 14, 1856, he received his preliminary education in the old Johnstown academy, and was one of the many students of that famous old institution who achieved fame.

Mr. Moore later entered Union College, where he was graduated in 1877, having been editor of the College Spectator, and also one of the editors of the college magazine. He won the first prize in the Junior contest for prize speaking in college, and was orator of his class day in June, 1877.

He then took up the study of law and was admitted to practice in 1879, after which he was appointed clerk in the Fulton Coun-

BASKETBALL WORK GOING ON AS USUAL

DAWSON BACK SOON

Will Take Active Hold of Things
Next Week.

Basketball practice is progressing rapidly and consistently in preparation for the first game of the season which will be with Clarkson Tech on December 14th.

Regular practice will be held today and tomorrow, and all men who are able to do so, will report during the Thanksgiving vacation. Fred Dawson will return immediately after the vacation and take charge of affairs.

The outlook is bright for a successful season, although no new stars have begun to twinkle as yet. The squad already numbers twenty-one, and several more are to report in the near future. The game with Clarkson is none too far away to be thoroughly prepared for it, and Clarkson usually puts out a good basketball team. However, both coach and squad are doing their best, and Union is sure to be well represented at the first game of this season.

Captain Scoby, who is in charge of practice at present, put his charges through long sessions of work during the latter part of last week and expressed himself to a CONCORDIENSIS reporter last evening as being well pleased with the result. Following Fred Dawson's rule, the afternoon work-outs consisted of long and short distance shooting, short sessions of dribbling and passing and, finally, a practice game with the first team working against several different teams in succession. In these games the varsity has, for the most part, held a strong upper hand. Ex-Captains Houghton and Zimmer have been on the floor several times of late. With their experience added to ability of the second team, a fast battle was assured. Fred Dawson was an innocent by-stander at one or two work-outs last week. He seemed pleased with what he saw.

ty court, and held that office until 1885. He also held an editorial connection with the Fulton County Republican and later on became an editor of the Johnstown Evening News.

Mr. Moore's ability and talents were not confined to his local practice. He had gained wide prominence by his law writing during the past several years, which extended into national

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 27, 1916.

CONCORDIENSIS announces herewith that it will take three days off at Thanksgiving tide along with the rest of the college. There will appear no issues on Thursday, Saturday and Monday of this week and next. With other things, its editors are thankful for this, to them, lengthy respite. Not, however, because they are tired of the drudge of it all. Journalism, even in the rudimentary form that CONCORDIENSIS offers, is a mighty fascinating business. The editors are working as willingly today as they were two months ago, but they have sensed a certain staleness creeping in of late. This is not to be wondered at. It is a common malady, and its remedy is rest. Wherefore, the editors are thankful. With its next issue, one week from Thursday, CONCORDIENSIS will have gained its second wind, and the second lap of the year's race will begin with all hands fresh and running at their best.

OUNCE OF PREVENTION.

We believe we have said before that we considered the musical clubs a potent factor working for the good of the college. There is no doubt that the clubs, as they are at Union today, are such a factor. This is very good. We should see to it that they remain as such.

There is always the possibility, of course, that they can leave a wake of most hurtful remembrances behind them as they swing through a concert tour. It is highly improbable, we are glad to say, that such a thing will ever happen to the Union clubs. Still, the chance is always there.

There seems to be two ways in which musical clubs can do hurt to their college. First, of course, is the type of performance they offer. We have little fear in this line; newspaper criticisms of the concerts to date have given us to believe that the season's program is at least as good as the average, and that, we know, suffers not a wit in comparison with what other colleges have to offer.

Then we have the question of conduct. Members of the clubs might well feel that we are pushing things a trifle too far in bringing this up. In their time they have never seen anything untoward happen, and furthermore they don't expect to in the future. This is all very good, but it is often the unexpected that happens. An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure.

The clubs will swing through several important cities this week. There is no use trying to laugh down the fact that these cities will pass judgment on the college as it is represented by the clubs. The odds are overwhelmingly one way that the judgment will be a favorable one. Wouldn't it be too bad if the little unexpected slip should come somewhere and turn everything topsy-turvy?

ALUMNI NOTES.

The following alumni were guests at the various fraternities over the week-end:

Phi Delta Theta—C. B. Hawn, '93; William Gardiner, '03; D. E. Griffith, '02; Edward T. Grout, '02; John E. Winne, '88; C. J. Barrett, '15; E. J. Sharp, '15; H. F. Hawn, '15; A. E. Bishop, '03; G. A. Thomas, ex-'18; and J. R. Reilly, Law '18.

Phi Gamma Delta—Aldrich Tiedeman, '04.

Alpha Delta Phi—E. E. Garrison, '16.

Delta Phi—Horace Zimmer, '16; J. Gordon Gidley, '14.

Kappa Alpha—Schought Vought, '19, spent the week-end as the guest of Ray Urban, during which he enjoyed a party in honor of the latter.

Delta Upsilon—R. A. Newton, '16.

Lambda Chi Alpha—A. V. Kelley, '10; F. J. O'Connell, '11; F. W. Burleigh, '09; J. J. McManus, '10; D. A. Calhoun, Medic '19; and D. H. Stevens of the State Comptroller's office.

NOTES OF DRAMATICS.

At a regular meeting of the Purity League last evening a vote was taken on suitable names for the college musical comedy. Four members voted for "Gush" and three were in favor of "Splash." Therefore it has been decided to call the show "Facts and Principles."

The cast of this production will number twelve principles of which three will play female parts. A large chorus will also be needed and many can be used in specialties. Try-outs will be held during the week of December 4th.

CLASSICAL CLUB.

There will be a meeting of the Classical Club tomorrow night at 7:15 o'clock. Dr. Fobes will speak on "Textual Criticisms."

FACULTY NOTICES.

There will be a special examination in Freshman subjects before the Christmas vacation.

Drs. Barnes and Stewart are going to Buffalo to a meeting of the Modern Language Association and will not be able to meet their classes, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Doctor Barnes has requested that Seniors desiring positions for next year apply at his office in the near future. Every year a number of representatives of teachers' agencies, etc., apply to him for candidates for various positions. The students should take advantage of the excellent opportunity offered.

THE PAST AND PRESENT

Keep abreast with the times. We are not living in the stage-coach decade, at which time the mentioning of flying machines would have been taken as an idle jest. In the present century you wouldn't think of traveling as one did in by-gone days. Neither would you of having your shoes repaired by the old style hand method way, if you knew the superiority in our up-to-date machine way of repairing.

WASHINGTON SQUARE CO. AT VAN CURLER

Rosalie Mathieu Demonstrates Her Versatility.

Van Curler: "Washington Square Players of New York" in a repertory of their most successful one-act plays.

The five one-act plays enacted by the "Players" on Friday and Saturday embodied a variety of subjects beginning with a Shakespearean whimsicality called "A Roadhouse in Arden," followed in turn by "Moon Down" a contrasting playlet with a significant title and containing a choice selection of slang; "Eugenically Speaking" an ultra-modern effort with an advanced idea of sex attraction as a theme; "A Miracle of Saint Anthony", a chef d'oeuvre from the pen of Maurice Maeterlinck; and "Helena's Husband" a travesty on the romance of Helen of Troy.

To Rosalie Mathieu belongs the credit of fine artistic achievement and a demonstration of histrionic versatility in the interpretations of her different roles which run the whole gamut of human emotion. Of particular merit was the acting of Ralph Roeder who does unusually well as Saint Anthony in Maeterlinck's play. The remaining personae did well and are all worthy of some commendation.

The settings, though not elaborate, were atmospherically suitable.

BLUMENSTOCK, 1920, PROVES VERY NOSEY

Freshman Rolls Tennis Ball All Over Campus.

Passers-by on Lenox Road were highly delighted and amused Saturday afternoon to see the antics of one Blumenstock, '20, who was propelling a tennis ball with his nose from the Phi Delta Theta House to the Delta Phi porch. The route followed was that of the sidewalk, and the difficulty of the task was enhanced by the slope of the path and the presence of a breeze. The feat was finally accomplished, however, amid the clicking of staff cameras and the cheers of the assembled student audience.

The cause of the whole business was a wager made between "Shorty" Reed, '19, and Blumenstock, '20, Reed betting that the Freshman football team would not score a point in the recent inter-class football series. The stakes provided that the loser was to push the tennis ball with his nose from house to house along the walk, and up the hill.

Interesting news has been received concerning two well known alumni, Dr. Irving P. Johnson, D. D., a graduate in the class of '87, and the Rt. Rev. Sheldon M. Griswold '82. The former is to be consecrated in Denver in January, as bishop co-adjutor of Colorado, and the latter, at present missionary bishop of Salina, Kansas, will in the near future be made suffragan bishop of Chicago.

Y. M. C. A. COLUMN.

The final pre-conference meeting of the Union College delegates to the Student Volunteer Conference at Cornell, will be held on Tuesday at one o'clock. At this time definite plans will be made, and all questions settled as far as possible.

All men who have sent in registration cards should be present and any others who contemplate making the trip should also be on hand. While the registration list is practically closed it may be possible that there is room for one or two to go.

Robert Faust and his Social Service Committee are hard at work planning for the Freshman "Get Together" to be held in Silliman Hall on December fifth, when the class of 1920 will be guests of the Christian Association and the faculty.

Professor and Mrs. Taylor are also actively interested in the project, and it is rumored that the affair will be aided by the new Ladies' Auxiliary which is being formed.

It is certain to be a success in every way, and will mark the beginning of a new social era in the history of the campus Association, since it is to be followed by a series of receptions for the other three classes.

FRESHMEN! GET TOGETHER!

At Silliman Hall on Tuesday, the fifth of December. Plan to be there and get acquainted with Prexy, the Dean, and members of the faculty. If you are there and bring all the Freshmen you can, we'll give you a good opportunity to meet your classmates in an informal way and to enjoy home-made refreshments, and some good speeches. Who they'll be, will be announced later, but you'll enjoy them.

That evening is yours at the Hall and the more the merrier. It won't be a religious meeting, but a chance for you to get acquainted with a good bunch of studes, your own classmates. A smile is the only thing to bring, except your voices, because we'll tune up on some college songs.

Show your class spirit and be there! Talk it up with the others. If you aren't keen about it, take a chance and if you have a bum time blame it to us. Take a chance! Steve did and got away with it. You can too! Come out and we'll show you how!

The reward of service is more service. If a man becomes so engrossed in his work that he wants no greater reward than more work of the same kind, surely success is shining but a short distance ahead of him. No great thing in this world of ours has ever been accomplished except by someone so thoroughly wrapped up in his work as to be a part of it, to live for it and in it. The secret of success is service.
