FORTY MEN NOW IN BASEBALL SQUAD

Outdoor Practice to Begin Next Week—Catching Staff Presents Biggest Problem.

NEW MATERIAL GOOD.

Wittner and Notman May be Eligible After Conditions.

At present the baseball squad consists of about forty men, and is daily increasing in number. Practice is carried on four days of the week; on Mondays, Tuesdays and Thursdays it begins promptly at 4:30 and on Saturday afternoon at 2:30. Tamsett is putting the men through all the paces which the present indoor space will permit. If the promising weather of the last few days continues, it is quite possible that the squad will be able to be out on the lower diamond by the last of next week, and be able to begin the genuine working out, which, of course, is impossible in the gymnasium. So far the battery has been receiving the majority of Tamsett's attention, though by the aid of the nets light hunting and infield practice has been carried on.

Nearly all of last season's squad are back on the job, with the exception of Moynihan and Galbraith, who are expected to return next week, and the Freshman class is capable of furnishing some excellent material. Tamsett will undoubtedly be hampered in his selection of an infield by the disability from injuries of Tubby Rosecrans, last season's star second baseman, and by the new ruling rendering ineligible all men from the Albany departments, which, of course, will bar Collison and Steele.

The position behind the plate evidently offers the greatest problem, for it is here that the greatest weakness appears to exist. At the present, Wally Girling, Dutchie Roof, Jack McCauley, Joe Powell and Erdman have been holding down the steam of a staff of eleven pitchers, composed of Hodgekiss, Bill Smith, Thompson, Benedict, Homer Goff, Bill Huested, Gulick, Holleran, Rosenthal, Goodman and Cantev. Of the Fresh representatives of this number, Cantev and Holleran have been showing up especially well, and Huested, Benedict and Hodgekiss have been exhibiting good form. Just at present Hal Wittner and Arthur Notman are ineligible from conditions, but it is expected that the April exams will leave them once more ready for practice.

McCauley has been doing good work behind the plate, but if a better man develops for this position

SPECIAL PULLMAN CAR TO CONVEY "COME TO BALMY LAND" CAST TO ELMIRA SATURDAY

A special Pullman car will take the sixteen members of "Come to Balmy Land" cast to Elmira Saturday, and a special sleeper has been secured for the return trip. This will give the dramatists the most comfort possible. While to date nothing definite has been done to entertain them while in Elmira, plans are being formulated to take the cast to Ithaca the day after the performance. Ithaca is about thirty miles from Elmira and will make a good sightseeing trip.

The Lyceum, where the comedy will be given, seats about four hundred more than the Van Curler Theatre. Seats have been selling rapidly, and it is expected that the performance will be one of the social events of the year. Already over three hundred seats have been disposed of.

Rehearsals will be held in the gymnasium Monday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights, in an endeavor to work Harold Sammons and Phil Downs respectively into the parts of Gladys and Mr. Dale. Downs is proceeding well with his song, "Oh Hawaii," while Sammons' "She's Sure Some Girl," bids fair to be the hit of the play. Talbot has had another attack of laryngitis, which may prevent him from singing with his usual vivacity.

ARMORY NEARING COMPLETION AT YALE

137 Harvard Men Training on Battleships—Williams to Have Military Service Course.

As soon as the international situation calls for definite military action, the Yale Bowl will be converted into an armed camp under governmental supervision. Already an armory is nearing completion on Yale Field, and a census of the student body as to military fitness and qualifications has been taken under the direction of President Hadley.

Should a call to arms be issued, the upper-classmen who spent last year in the four Yale batteries as militiamen probably would be moved at once to Fort Sill, Oklahoma, to attend the School of Artillery Fire. Yale aviators and motor boat coast patrol volunteers will at once give more of their time to the work which they have already begun to perfect, and the university's entire equipment and teaching force will be placed at the disposal of the government in any capacity it may see fit to utilize them.

Plans have been perfected whereby Yale may turn out 2,500 field artillery officers every ten years. A Yale unit of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps has been permanently organized with Captain Robert M. Danford 1st Field Artillery, U. S. A., in charge and has been recruiting up to full strength. In the event of war, nearly the whole student body would volunteer.

An aviation unit has been organized with ten men of previous experience as leaders, and drill in flying will be held this summer. A naval unit has also been instituted which will patrol Long Island Sound in case of war and will have supervision over some of the amateur radio stations.

UNION DEBATERS DEFEAT HOBART

Large Crowd Hears Negative Win Annual Inter-Collegiate Debate.

The Hobart debating team was defeated by Union in the intercollegiate debate at Geneva Friday night. The Union team, composed of Captain Clyde A. Heatley, Spencer B. Eddy, Leslie Uphoff, and Ignatz R. Stein upheld the negative side of the question, which was, "Resolved, That the government of the United States should join the movement for an international league to enforce peace." The Hobart team, maintaining the affirmative, was composed of Joseph Myler, Howard A. Giddings, Howard H. Hassinger and Seldon M. Barnes. The judges of the debate were Dr. W. H. Jordan, Rev. Ralph S. Cushman, and Attorney H. S. Hammond, of Geneva.

The Hobart team maintained that such a league would be for the general good of humanity, that it was sure to come because so universally endorsed, that it was the next logical step in government development, and that the United States should join it as one of the leaders now, rather than join later.

The Union team contended that it would not be to the advantage of the United States to join such a league, that the league would prove impracticable, that it could not enforce its decisions, and that its fundamental idea was contrary to human nature.

Because of the fact that the debate was widely announced the chapel was nearly filled, and the Hobart students turned out en masse. The Union debaters returned Saturday.

Meetings of the Classical Club will be discontinued until further notice.

COLLEGE GRADUATES SHOULD BE LEADERS

Says Rev. DeYoung at Final Sunday Vesper Service of Year.

INTERESTING SPEAKER

Informal Address on "The Mind of Christ" Proves Very Instructive.

The last of the regular Sunday vesper services was held in Silliman Hall yesterday, when the Rev. C. DeYoung of the Bellevue Reformed Church addressed a representative gathering on the subject "The Mind of Christ." Mr. DeYoung, who is a graduate of Hope College in Michigan, proved to be a most interesting and entertaining speaker and his first address to Union students was one of excellence and worth.

Mr. DeYoung opened his address by explaining that he felt quite at home on a campus, and that he felt that he had spent some of the happiest years of his life in his college course. He expressed his decision to speak very informally, as a college man to college men. He said in part:

"The world expects college men to be leaders. The man who doesn't expect to be a leader after having had a college training, is a sort of failure. The world looks to him to lead, because it has put upon him the responsibility of training himself to lead.

"We have often heard of Jesus being spoken of as an example of a great leader in the world of faith, of truth, and of honesty, but we seldom hear Him mentioned as a leader in the world of mind. We have gathered a wrong conception of Him. Jesus was a leader of mind as well as of heart, and He is the one we must follow in the world

STAY IN LINE.

Over three hundred Union men attended the first military drill for the students at the Armory last Friday evening. This was surely an enthusiastic beginning, and Col. Andrews was very pleased at the earnestness with which the men went through the drill. The first appearance gives good promise for the future of the Union squad, but the desired goal is still far away, and much harder work will be given before the men have passed the stage of "rookies."

Danger to the success of the corps is not over with a good beginning. It will take as much earnest and for more sustained effort to make the body an efficient military unit as it did to organize it. The danger just now is too little thought and too much enthusiasm. Too much enthusiasm is as bad as too little, for it is dampened to easily by hard work—the kind that must be done, to make President Richmond's hopes a reality. But don't let the enthusiasm wane, after the excitement of the "first plunge." Every student should report regularly for drill and instruction, for irregular attendance in this case is one of the most disorganizing influences possible.

Union men have made a fine start on the long march. Don't drop out now.

"I HAVE DONE MY BEST"

"Down and out" is no uncommon epithet. It brands the man to whom it is applied as a failure. With failures the world has little patience; it listens to their we-have-done-our-best plea and demands results. They have none to show.

Altogether too many undergraduates are "down and out" as far as the college world is concerned. It is unfortunate that men who can be relied upon to work themselves out, to work until they obtain results, constitute small minorities in institutions which aim to develop just that type. Pitiful indeed is the helpless resignation of so many in the face of their appointed tasks. They do their best as far as it is convenient, and then leave results to the workings of fate. Under these circumstances, however, results are never forthcoming, for a man's so-called best is not always equal to performing his required tasks. In fact, from the standpoint of efficiency, he has no right to recognize any best if it does not produce results.

For the man who accepts as final anything short of a finished piece of work, the danger lies not so much in the fact that the work itself is incomplete as in his acceptance of it when incomplete. Let us illustrate. An undergraduate attempts to excuse his unfinished curriculum assignment by pleading that he worked two hours upon it. Thus he thinks to establish his case when in reality he disregards the only significant fact, the completion of the assignment. Here he has fallen short. He can show no results, yet he pleads, "I have done my best."

Many undergraduates honestly do their best. The results they achieve prove it. As many more say they do their best, but the results they do not achieve belie their words. These latter are out of place in college, where men supposedly have every opportunity to do their best and to gain results. In reality they belong to the class of self-justifiers, the class that rarely succeeds.—Williams Record.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

The Mission Study Classes will meet at the usual hours, groups 1 and 3 on Wednesday evening and group 2 on Friday evening.

Prof. Taylor's Class will meet Friday evening at 7:30 in order to gain the time lost by the omission of the class last Friday evening.

The English to Foreigners' classes will meet Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday at 7:15 as usual. Shop classes will also meet at the regular time.

Sunday evening, April 1st, has been appointed by local churches as "College Night," and a service for the college men of Schenectady will be held in the First Methodist Church, and will be addressed by the Rev. Dr. Noble. Efforts are being made to get in touch with all college alumni in Schenectady, and it is planned to reserve a section of seats for Union undergraduates. Further details will appear in THE CONCORDIENSIS later.

WILLIAMS COLLEGE

President Richmond preached Sunday at Williams College on "The Spirit of Loyalty," showing that the best kind of loyalty was not that to material and personal interests, but a loyalty to universal principles. He said in part: "The test of any man in the end is loyalty. It is loyalty not to his own interests but what he calls his principles. That is also the test of a country. The question before the nation today is not how to save our goods, but how to maintain the principles of our forefathers—the principles of liberty and democracy for which they fought."

At Harvard the undergraduates have organized reserve officers' training corps, aviation corps, naval corps, and wireless telegraphy corps. Practice in the four major sports will be cancelled Mondays, so that the candidates may drill at that time. This will enable those on the various teams to form special companies for drill two hours in the afternoon and two hours in the evening each week. One hundred and thirty-seven Harvard men are training two nights each week on two battleships at the Charlestown navy yard.

Williams is trying to get a regular army officer to teach a course in military science. The study will count three hours toward graduation, and will prepare the student for a commission in the reserve corps.

Lectures and blackboard talks constitute the training which the students at Wesleyan are receiving in the military sphere. The college will start training next fall. In the event of war, while at the University of Washington a reserve officers training corps has been established. The graduating class will be given the opportunity to enroll in the United States Marine Corps.

Eighty students out of a total of 220 at Hamilton College have joined the voluntary officers' reserve corps.

TO TAKE MILITARY CENSUS OF COLLEGE

Blanks to Be Provided for Registration for Plattsburgh.

A committee consisting of Girling, chairman; Boomhower, Roof, Carey, Beckett, Loughlin, Palmer, Potter, and Jameison will start on Monday, March 26th, to take a census of the men in college who are going to Plattsburgh this summer and also a military census of the college. This will be a very hard undertaking unless each man sees that he personally is provided with the blanks that will be distributed and fills it out properly. If the students have any accomplishments such as driving automobiles, motor boats and so forth, it is urged that they put them in for all these things can be used in time of war to great advantage. If every man does his little part old Union can come up and surpass her mark. That is what these committees are out to do. This above mentioned committee will be divided as follows: Loughlin and Boomhower taking care of the Seniors; Beckett and Palmer Juniors; Carey and Potter. Sophomores; Roof, Girling and Jameison, the Freshmen. These men will see that blanks are at hand for every man to fill out.

FOUR SENIOR CLASS COMMITTEES ANNOUNCED

President Girling if the Senior Class has announced the following Senior Class committees:

tion, he will no doubt be shifted to second base, for which he seems more naturally adapted. Billy May is fully up to his old form, and is working hard to pass up one of two conditions, which he must do before being able to play. In the box Rosenthal, Homer Goff and Goodman have been showing some real stuff, and among the Freshmen, Jack Collins and Sutton have been proving they are good material for the infield.

The pitchers' and catchers' staffs as they stand at present have already been given. First base has the following possibilities: Lacyko, Gibson, H. Smith, G. Smith, Hendrickson, and Sutton. For second, there are Wadsworth, Gale, McCauley, Collins, Palmer and Brown. Either Collins or Wadsworth would make good at third, and Wadsworth, Fox, Collins, Wallace, Hagar and May would do very well at shortstop. Captain Friday, Mosher, Thompson, L. Friday and Lacyko would star in the outfield.

Of course at this early stage of practice, it is impossible to predict what the first line-up will be when the Garnet plays the first game of the season on April 20th, for it is very difficult to accurately judge any of the new men until they are watched while actually working out in the field. The general outlook, however, is quite promising, and Coach Tamsett appears well pleased with the showing the squad has thus far made. The whole college is watching the squad with much interest, and if hard work and consistent training can accomplish it, Union will have another successful season this year.

EIGHT JUNIORS ELECTED INTO ENGLISH CLUB

Dr. Moldenhauer Reads Paper on "G. K. Chesterton."

At a meeting of the English Club on Friday evening, the following Juniors were elected to membership: Clyde Heatley, Edward M. Cameron, Frederick G. Bascom, Harold L. Cook, John C. Younie, Theodore Palmer, Gibson Carey, Ignatz Stein.

Following the elections, a paper on "G. K. Chesterton" was given by Dr. Moldenhauer of Albany in a very masterly and excellent style. At the conclusion of his paper, Dr. Moldenhauer read several extracts from Chesterton's "Man Alive!" and from his "Nonsense Poems," after which took place a lengthy discussion of Chesterton by all the members.

of intellect as well as of emotion. He taught us how to think. * * *

"What the world needs today, is men who will pattern their minds after Jesus Christ. Everything that we do leaves its impression upon our lives and becomes part of our character. What we say, think, and do enters into our eternal character. I think there is nothing more important than that we get a mind like that of Jesus.

"I don't know if there was ever in history an opportunity in the world, as great as ours is today. The thing that is going to make our world a palatable and happy place to live in, is more men with minds like Jesus Christ. I wish men would enlist and fight for Jesus with the numbers and zeal and vigor that they do for a nation. Is it asking too much that we be willing to do that?

"I firmly believe that humanity's only hope is in the principles of Jesus Christ. We can preach, and treat, and have conferences until doomsday, but if we haven't men with lofty ideals and noble purposes, what good does it all do?

The library of the Department of Civil Engineering, already equipped with reading matter, has just received a substantial addition to its resources in the form of twenty-four new reference books. These books cover the fields of construction, hydraulic engineering, sanitary engineering, structural engineering, and highway engineering, and are the latest authoritative volumes on their respective subjects. These books are especially adapted for reference use for the students of the courses in civil and electrical engineering.
