NEW LINE-UP MEETS RUTGERS SATURDAY

Tamsett Tries Tentative Combinations.

TRINITY IN TENNIS

Track Team Meets Williams Next
Saturday—Tell Working Out.

The Union team that will line-up against Rutgers Saturday in the first home game of the season, will be much stronger and will work more smoothly than the nine that played West Point and Crescent A. C. last week.

Coach Tamsett has been trying out some new combinations in the infield playing, Collins at short and Fancher on second. Peaslee has been alternating with Galbraith on first in the practice games that have formed a large part of the work of the week.

Just whom Tamsett will decide to start in Saturday's contest appears to be unsettled at present but it is doubtful if the team will line up again this season as it did in the first two games.

Sutton and Flood have been a short and second on the scrub during the week and either may show form that will give them a place on the varsity. Collins and Fancher appear to have a slight edge on their rivals in the batting department which may serve to settle the question.

The pitchers are showing good form and will be in condition for a hard battle. Goff is in first class trim and has made a strong showing during the week. Goodman, Holleran and Cantey are all in shape for Saturday's game and may all get a chance, as Tamsett is apt to work several hurlers.

Rutgers defeated Rhode Island State last Saturday, 8-4.

Track.

Under Capt. Morison the track squad has been putting in a hard week's work preparing for the Williams meet on May 5. The event will take place in Williams town and the Garnet team will be in good condition for the struggle.

The hurdlers have had a particularly strenuous practice session

IMPRESSIVE SCENE.

With Battalion at Attention
Banner Is Unfurled At Entrance to Engineering Building.

With the college band crashing out lively strains and a bass drum rumbling, the Union College battalion marched across the old athletic field yesterday afternoon in three companies, Capt. Charles Bowman at their head. They halted in front of the General Engineering Building and stood at attention while ceremonies were solemnized in connection with the presentation and raising of a flag presented by the General Engineering faculty and students to the General Engineering Department.

With the men standing at attention John England, '17, who had charge of the subscription for the flag, presented it to Dr. Olin H. Landreth, who retires this year as head of the General Engineering Department. Dr. Landreth stood on the steps of the Engineering Building with President Richmond, Prof. McDaniels and Dr. Berg. Dr. Landreth turned the flag over to Prof. McDaniels as the future head of the department.

"I consider it an honor to be made custodian of this flag," said Prof. McDaniels in a brief speech, "and I shall see that it is kept flying at all proper times."

"This flag is not needed to make you better Americans," said Dr. Landreth, who followed Prof. McDaniels with a brief address to the battalion, "It is only an emblem of your Americanism and I know that always while you are under it you will show your devotion to it."

The flag was carried to the second story and raised on a pole extending over the entrance to the building, a bugler blowing, "The Colors" and the battalion saluting with their hats over their hearts. When the flag was fully unfurled and fluttered lightly in the chilly April breeze which was stirring across the campus and the last note of the bugle had been sounded Dr. Richmond made the final speech of the ceremonies. After referring to the impressiveness of the occasion he said:

"I never thought that I would live to see the time when the Battalion Becoming Brilliant Host —Bright Prospect of Securing Gov't Arms.

The Union battalion was measured for uniforms yesterday and unless plans to secure arms go awry the student rookies will blossom out with rifles and regimentals before many days are past. With the college band in line to beat out the martial airs and three buglers already trilling the commands, and the squads becoming more precise every day of drill the battalion will make a brilliant appearance when the men are wearing khaki and carrying pieces.

The purchase of breeches, hats and leggings which is the part of the equipment the college will provide, was made possible by a subscription raised among the alumni, the bulk of the money coming from alumni in Schenectady. The gift of $500.00 made by the class of '97 formed the nucleus of the fund which the alumni have contributed towards the expenses of military training. Mr. Willis T. Hanson, Jr., of Schenectady, took charge of canvassing the Schenectady alumni and as a result secured $1,600.00 from them. Two hundred dollars was raised among other alumni by Charlie Waldron, Secretary of the Graduate Council.

The efforts that are being made to secure rifles from the War Department were outlined in THE CONCORDIENSIS on April 14. Hon. Hiram C. Todd, '97, of Saratoga, a Trustee of the college, is pushing the matter with officials at Washington and it is considered that the chances for obtaining a complement of arms are excellent.

Five dollars a man is the cost of the breeches, hats and leggings. They are to be purchased from the Army and Navy Co-operative Store in New York City and delivery is guaranteed three days after receipt of the order. This equipment will be issued to the students on the same basis as athletic uniforms. The students are to provide their own shirts and shoes. The college authorities will buy the regulation shirts for them, if the students so desire. Any sort of tan colored shoes will be acceptable.

Dr. Hale Writes On Officers' Reserve Training Camps.

TWELVE MEN EXAMINED

Faculty Members and Students
Apply for Admittance—Departure Uncertain

Many students and five faculty members have thus far been examined for admission to the Officers' Reserve Training Camp at Madison Barracks. They are: Dr. S. P. Chase, Prof. T. K. Whipple, Prof. Perrin Galpin, Prof. Vedder, T. de C. Palmer, '18, Law Bowman, '19, De Wolfe Gibson, '20, Charles de La Vergne, '19, Bernadotte Lester, '18, Henry A. Clarke, '18, Allen H. J. Preston '19, Upp, '17, Baird, '17, Schuyler '18, Morris, '18, Carey, '18, Cunningham '19, Flood, '19, and Philip Dorlon '18.

They do not yet know whether they are going to the camp. They have merely taken the physical examination and sent in their applications and letters of recommendation and those who passed the physical test are holding themselves in readiness to leave, if called.

Among those who are going to Albany tonight to be examined are: Harold Sammons, '17, James Mudge, '18, and Calkins, '18.

For several days particulars regarding these camps have been shrouded in darkness. Only scanty information as newspaper accounts gave was obtainable. Dr. Hale, chairman of the faculty committee on military training, has now obtained information on the subject and writes the following open letter to THE CONCORDIENSIS for the benefit of the students:

TO THE CONCORDIENSIS:

The Officers' Training Camps offer the chance for which we have been waiting.

So far Union College, like the other colleges of the country, has been advised not to encourage indiscriminate enlistment in the ranks on the ground that college men were in general of fit calibre to serve their country as officers in the army. These Training Camps give the chance for the training necessary to begin such service.

The government pays the expense of transportation uniforms and subsistence. It requires that men attending the camps shall agree to accept such appointment in the Officers' Reserve Corps as may be offered. Possibly the men

WILL UNION COLLEGE MEET WITH FAILURE?

Here is the yarn about the Concordy's financial straits that has drifted up to the Clinton hills: Union College has met with failure in publishing The Concordiensis three times a week. The paper, which was changed from a weekly to a tri-weekly at the beginning of the year, has not been a financial success and publication will be entirely discontinued for the rest of the year. The cost of publication has been about a thousand dollars greater than was estimated, and, although the proceeds from advertising and subscriptions are in excess of the estimation, they do not make up the deficit. About three hundred dollars worth of advertising will be lost by the suspension of the paper.

This is from the Hamilton Life. It publishes this bundle of mis-statements and exaggerations under the head "Concordiensis Fails."

We have not met with failure yet. In our temporary embarrassment the students have come to the rescue and taxed themselves twenty-five cents each. They have voted this tax. The next thing is to pay it.

Slip your Concordy quarter in your pocket tomorrow for the collector.

WAKE UP, FRESHMEN.

Last Monday a call was issued for Freshmen wishing to try out for a managership on THE CONCORDIENSIS. One Freshman has responded.

You get nothing in college unless you go after something. Blessings may have been showered upon you from the clouds before you came here and your way may be made easy for you when you go away, but while you are here you are born to nothing and nothing will be thrust upon you. You must attain everything.

The men in college who attain the most are those who begin working hard their Freshman year. If you begin then, you don't quit and you find your reward.

If you earn a place on the managerial staff of THE CONCORDIENSIS you will have a share in the control of an important undergraduate activity, you will gain valuable business experience and you will be doing your bit for the good of the college.

Civilian Dress For the "Officers Reserve"

Those who drill on the campus twice a-week from four to six, will appreciate the vigor and brisk manliness of VARSITY FIFTY-FIVE Hart, Schaffner & Marx clothes. Until such time as the war department sees fit to garb them in army boots and suits of khaki they will find no better and no more inspiring uniform than that furnished by Hart, Schaffner & Marx.

The belted coats of many VARSITY FIFTY-FIVE models possess a military swing that will make the future officer proud of his martial step and lively appearance.

Your drill will have more "pep" if you don a Hart, Schaffner & Marx suit.

and results are apparent already. The distance men are beginning to show flashes of real speed, and should give a good account of themselves. With Captain Morison and Hughes in the sprints the team is well balanced on the track and the field events should prove equally strong.

Several candidates are out for the weights and led by Law Bowman, are getting in some good training. Tell has reported for the high jump and is working himself rapidly into shape. Jones and Curtis are working out daily in the pole vault, but have not yet tried for any great height.

Practice will be held every afternoon for those men who are free from class work.

attending the camps will receive pay. Possibly all the men attending the camps will receive commissions. But though these latter points are doubtful, there is enough in the plan besides to give full opportunity to every man of the required age to enter the military service of the country.

Other forms of national service are of great importance. The college is offering opportunities to those men who feel that they can serve best in some kind of agricultural or industrial work. But those men who feel that they want to volunteer for military service have in these training camps a chance to stop thinking and talking and to do something.

Conditions and requirements may be learned at the office of the Graduate Council. The first steps are to take a physical examination, to fill out an application, and to get three letters of recommendations. If these are satisfactory the applicant will receive an assignment to a camp.

Union College is beginning now to make her record in this war. It should be as fine as was her record half a century ago.
